Dwight D. Eisenhower Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander in World War II of the mightiest armed force ever assembled and former President of the United States, died today.

The announcement of the general's death was made in a somber voice by Brig. Gen. Frederic Hughes Jr., commanding general of Walter Reed Army Hospital who said that Eisenhower had "died quietly at 12:25 p.m. EST after a long and heroic struggle," and that he had died peacefully.

The 78-year-old five-star general, known as "Ike" throughout the world, was hit by congestive heart failure March 15 and again last Monday while recuperating from an intestinal operation and pneumonia complications.

With the rugged constitution of a Kansas farm boy, he already had battled back from seven heart attacks before undergoing surgery for an intestinal obstruction Feb. 23.

Four days after undergoing the high-rank surgery, he contracted pneumonia. Doctors successfully combatted the pneumonia with antibiotics.

But throughout the February trouble, it was Eisenhower's heart which caused doctors their prime concern.

Doctors made no mention of the congestive heart failure March 15 until after Eisenhower's wife, Mamie, said at a party the general had endured a "particularly bad" day.

Reporters questioned the hospital and were told of the latest onset of heart trouble.

Eisenhower had been hospitalized since last April 29, when a heart attack felled him in California after a round of golf. He was transferred to Walter Reed and there suffered three more,

Pope Appoints Four Americans As Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today named 35 new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church. They included four Americans—Archbishops Terence Cooke of New York, John Dearden of Detroit, John Wright of Pittsburgh and John Carberry of St. Louis.

This brought the total number of U.S. cardinals to 10, the largest number in history.

Thirty-three of the new princes of the Church will be elevated at a secret consistory April 28.

Two of them will not be present. The Pope named them "in pectore"—in his heart—and will not reveal their identity until some future time or perhaps never. This has been done in the past where the announcement of a prelate's elevation might endanger his safety, if he was in a country whose government was inimical to the Church, for example.

The consistory will increase the College of Cardinals to a record membership of 134.

It will be the third consistory of Pope Paul's six-year-old reign. At his last, on June 26, 1967, he increased the college to 118 cardinals, then a record. But in the past two years 16 of these prelates have died.

Arabs Want Peace Talks By Big Four

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Arab countries appear to be mounting a campaign to pressure Israel into accepting the Big Four powers as architects of peace in the Middle East.

The pattern emerged in statement to Thursday by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser in Cairo and by Jordan at the urgent session of the U.N. Security Council in New York. The Jordan position got strong support from the Soviet Union.

Ambassador Muhammad H. El-Farra of Jordan charged in the council that the Israeli raid on a village near Salt on Wednesday was undertaken with the aim of torpedoing the peace efforts of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France.

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah denied the charge and said the raid was aimed at a base of Al Fatah, the Arab guerrilla organization which proclaims as its aim the destruction of Israel.

Tekoah asserted that if the Arab governments failed to stop activities of guerrilla fighters based on their territories Israel would "itself take all the necessary measures to put an end to it."

Protestors Are Sick, Declares Ex-Chief Justice

Americans must rally to the cause of their nation and dedicate themselves to a deeper understanding of what it means and work for law, order and human uplift, a former Colorado Supreme Court chief justice said here Thursday night.

Judge O. Otto Moore, now retired after 20 years on the state's highest bench, spoke at the annual spring conference of the Colorado Parks and Recreation Society held at the Broadmoor Thursday and today.

The judge declared that Americans must work to preserve their heritage of freedom which is liberty under law so that they can "transmit this unimpaired to succeeding generations."

He noted that the nation is beset today by protestors who are "sick," and who "berate the country while basking in freedom and insist on 100 per cent of all the freedoms that they would destroy."

If the nation is to survive, Moore said, it must make far greater progress in human relations that it has made recently.

"Education, good education, must be more generally acquired by all," he declared. Education will not make everyone a leader, but it will allow people to know which leaders to follow, said the judge.

Every citizen of this nation is entitled to be faced with an open door to the promise of America, "the door should be closed to no one," he averred.

Americans who wish to preserve their country must not shrink from being tough minded and fair minded and recognize that when rights are guaranteed to one citizen they are guaranteed to all. Rights for one group can not be repudiated, he pointed out.

He explained that the Declaration of Independence is the doctrine of brotherhood and that under that doctrine "every human being has rights."

The judge pointed out that the American way of life is being assaulted by people who want to tear it down. Their leaders exhort them to use violence, to pick up guns and be ready to kill.

He cited two speakers from the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) at the Colorado College Symposium on violence in January, reciting these quotes:

"We are going to change the way things are — by any means necessary."

"Join us or get out of our

Enemy Ambush Foiled Northwest of Saigon

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP)—The North Vietnamese tried to ambush a big U.S. convoy northwest of Saigon today for the second time in four days. But American armor, bombers and helicopter gunships drove them off and killed at least 46.

Initial reports from the battleground, on the Ben Cui rubber plantation 45 miles northwest of Saigon, said three Americans from the 25th Infantry Division were killed and three wounded.

Enemy rocket grenades damaged one of the Army's new light Sheridan tanks, which was criticized in the U.S. Congress this week, and an armored personnel carrier.

Ten miles south on Highway 19, hundreds of North Vietnamese tried to ambush another 25th Division convoy Tuesday. That time 85 of the enemy and two Americans were reported killed.

U.S. spokesmen said the North Vietnamese today either opened fire too soon or were spotted by tankmen a mile ahead of the 120 trucks of ammunition and food for the 25th Division base camp at Tay Ninh. The first shots were fired at the tanks and armored personnel carriers.

"We got there before they expected us," said one officer. "We feel they were not ready. Their ambush holes were not deep enough. They were still digging in."

The North Vietnamese were about 10 yards off the highway, on both sides of it, behind the stumps of rubber trees. Because of daily convoys, the Americans had cut down the trees and brush for 200 yards on each side of the road.

Within 10 minutes after the enemy began slamming rocket grenades at the 40 tanks and armored personnel carriers leading the convoy, American artillery, bombers and helicopter gunships were in action.

The tanks and personnel carriers returned the enemy fire with canon and .50-caliber machine guns, while the bombers and gunships raked the enemy's escape routes to the rear.

Spokesmen said the North Vietnamese troops left 18 assault rifles, two rocket grenade launchers and a machine gun on the battlefield.

The convoy moved on through to Tay Ninh while other American troops chased the rest of the North Vietnamese through the plantation. The attack had been made by more than 200 enemy soldiers, U.S. officers estimated.

Three other smaller fights involving 25th Division troops and an attack on a U.S. 1/8ST Infantry division base also were reported along the northwest approach corridors toward Saigon. At least 24 enemy soldiers were known dead, the U.S. command said. American casualties were reported light in the three 25th Division fights, and four killed and 24 wounded in the attack on the 1st Division camp.

Southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta, two South Vietnamese battalions outside My Tho reported killing 42 Viet Cong in the Delta Provincial capital of Ben Tre, time bombs attached to two bicycles parked beside a market restaurant blew up, killing eight civilians and wounding 30.

With the Viet Cong's spring offensive now in its 34th

Mariner on Course to Tell Secrets of Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — While scientists puzzled over three minor lapses in its otherwise elegant performance, Mariner 7 streaked on course today to join its twin in search of signs that life can exist on Mars.

Following Mariner 6 by 31 days, the 901-pound spacecraft was blasted off from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Thursday atop a 117-foot tall Atlas-Centaur rocket.

Shortly after it separated from its rocket, Mariner first departed from its $64-million script. Its computer ad-libbed some unscheduled transmissions to earth, then resumed normal work.

The other two miscues came as the craft was securely in its 193-million mile, 134-day groove. Controllers at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here noticed two abrupt, temporary drops in power to Mariner's operating equipment and transmitter.

Mariner's course wasn't affected, but scientists said they would delay its optical search for its guiding star Canopus until they find out what happened. Meanwhile, it navigated by the star Vega.

Mariner's present course would carry it within 15,000 miles of Mars on Aug. 1. A midcourse rocket maneuver planned for about April 8 will nudge the craft on a course taking it within 2,000 miles of the surface, 4,000 miles closer than earlier Mariners.

Mariner 6 will come within 2,000 miles of Mars the day before Mariner 7. Each craft carries two television cameras that can pick out objects 900 feet across.

"If there is life on Mars, it is most unlikely the spacecraft would make that detection," said Newton W. Cunningham, Mariner program manager for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "We do hope, however, to tell if the environment there is suitable for life to exist."

Suitable means having, among other things, oxygen, water and tolerable temperatures. Mars gives astronomers teasing hints that it may qualify.

When its polar ice caps melt, the nearby landscape darkens, as water-refreshed spring vegetation might. Other areas change colors independent of the season.

Though some scientists believe the polar caps are dry ice —frozen carbon dioxide—recent spectroscopic evidence shows that some water exists there and in the dry, rarefied atmosphere as well.

Scientists hope to settle the question of Martian life definitely in 1973 when unmanned spacecraft are to land on the planet.

Earthquake Reported in Indonesia, Too

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A strong earthquake hit Sangihe Island, 150 miles north of the Celebes Thursday, the fifth violent quake to strike the region this year.

The Natural Disasters Bureau said it had no report of casualties or damage from the string of islands running south from the Philippine island of Mindanao.

The bureau said tremors are still being reported through the north and central Celebes more than six weeks after a quake killed 670 persons and destroyed many towns and villages.

39 Are Feared Dead in New Turkish Quake

ISTANBUL (AP)—At least 39 persons were feared dead in a strong earthquake which rocked western Turkey early today.

The Kandili Seismological Observatory recorded the tremor at 3:39 a.m. and said its center was in the Alasehia area, 81 miles east of the Aegean port of Izmir.

Observatory officials said the first big quake lasted 10 seconds. Tremors continued throughout the night, panicking the population.

Communications with many villages were broken, and the casualty toll was expected to rise.

The Interior Ministry reported seven deaths and many persons injured in the area of Manisa, 25 miles from Izmir. But there were no reports of casualties or damage at Izmir, where a large number of U.S. military personnel are stationed.

Four Soldiers Are Convicted Of Mutiny

By STEVE LOWELL

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — Four young California soldiers who took part in a sit-down demonstration in the stockade at the Presidio in San Francisco last Oct. 14 have been convicted of mutiny.

It took a military court-martial 90 minutes to decide Thursday that Pvts. Edward Yost, 23, Elmira; Ricky Dodd, 21, Hayward; William Hayes, 22, Healdsburg, and Harold Swanson, 19, San Leandro, were guilty.

The four were among 27 demonstrators accused of "intent to override lawful military authority" by ignoring orders "in concert" with others.

The defense contended there was no intent to mutiny, only to seek the attention of authorities.

Defense attorneys said the demonstrators were upset because a guard fatally shot a prisoner three days earlier after he left a work detail and by conditions in the stockade in general—alleging a shortage of food, blocking channels of protest, unsanitary conditions and other factors.

The prosecution denied that unfavorable conditions prevailed.

Capt. Dean Flippo of the staff judge advocate office at the Presidio, said, "No man went hungry. There is no proof that

Red Chinese Digging In at Soviet Border

MOSCOW (AP) — Red Chinese troops are digging in with a freshly equipped command post and new communications system on the tense Soviet-Chinese border in the Far East, a Soviet army colonel reported today.

The colonel said the Chinese are "throwing a few (explosive mines) onto Damansky Island" where two bloody clashes between Soviet and Chinese troops took place earlier this month. The Chinese call the disputed island in the Ussuri River Chenpao.

The report by Col. Sergei Borzenko made no mention of any fighting since March 15.

Writing in Pravda, the colonel said he looked through an "optical device" on a hill near the disputed frontier and could see a Chinese observer sitting atop an abandoned brick factory not far away.

Borzenko said the island, which is claimed by both Russia and China, soon will be flooded by the spring thaw of the Ussuri.

His report in the Communist party newspaper indicated that neither the Soviets nor the Chinese now occupy the island. It normally is uninhabited.

"At night," Borzenko wrote, "from this side, opposite the island, sounds of earth-moving work can be heard, and farther away there are explosions. They are blowing up rocks, equipping a command post and laying communications lines."

The colonel's report also described some activities of the border guards indicating the Soviets are braced for further fighting.

The first two clashes were about two weeks apart.

BUSINESSMEN LEAD TRAVEL TO JAPAN

TOKYO (UPI) — One out of every three foreign visitors to Japan is a businessman, the Transport Ministry says. It reports 519,000 travelers visited a last year, 34 per cent of them for business reasons. Sightseeing tourists accounted for only 6 per cent. Altogether, they spent $123 million.

He Printed His Own Obituary Card

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "This is to announce that I, William Ross Peeler, am not dead yet," said the printed cards.

"Anticipating the day of my demise I am taking this method of informing you that there will be no formal funeral. You will find enclosed herewith my obituary as written with the hope that it may be read carefully."

Peeler mailed the announcement to his friends nine years ago. On Thursday his friends learned that Peeler, a bachelor, died last Saturday in a convalescent hospital at the age of 75.

The public administrator seeks relatives and any assets to probate. If neither exist, and he isn't a veteran, the county will handle the burial arrangements.

The obituary contained this request: "Please do not shed any tears. Save them for the troubles of the living."

Spectators Are Burned in Oil Tank Blaze

By LYLE W. PRICE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Flames spewing from a gigantic crude oil tank fed a raging fire today which killed a tanker truck attendant and burned 50 other persons—many of them spectators.

More than 100 firemen battled to keep the blaze from several other tanks, each holding a million gallons of gasoline.

The flames had diminished Thursday night several hours after two explosions ripped the Fletcher Oil Co. refinery in the suburb of Carson, but burst suddenly out of control again this morning.

The fire centered in a pool of liquid encircling an already exploded butane tank.

Three 1.3-million gallon tanks and six smaller ones were set ablaze when a truck unloading fuel burst into flames Thursday evening, killing Myron Chase, 47, of nearby Long Beach.

As up to 200 firemen battled flame consuming jet fuel, diesel oil, butane, gasoline, naphtha, and crude oil, a second explosion blasted apart another tank. A block away, about two dozen spectators— including 15 youngsters on bicycles—suffered flash burns. Two dozen firemen also were treated for burns.

The truck's other attendant, Steven Yancy, 51, was hospitalized with second and third degree burns over 60 per cent of his body.

A refinery spokesman reported one employe missing.

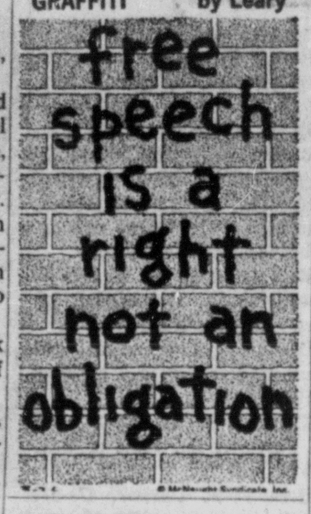

The refinery is in a flat industrial area closely bordered by homes, a highway and open fields.

The first explosion at about 5:30 p.m. sent the top of a gigantic storage tank sailing onto nearby Main Street.

Flames and thick smoke shot up to 1,000 feet and could be seen for 20 miles.

Industrialist Is Reported Missing

Ioannis Sofianopoulos, 33, co-owner of one of Greece's largest drug firms, was missing. Police said his coat was neatly folded in the single-engine plane and there were bloodstains in the cockpit, but no clue to his whereabouts.

Civil Rights Compliance Is Being Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said today procedures used by the Defense and Transportation departments in awarding contracts to Southern industries accused of racial discrimination in hiring practices resulted in better compliance with civil rights laws than past methods.

Joining Shultz in testifying before a Senate subcommittee looking into government operations today were Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe and Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard.

In his prepared testimony, Shultz said Pentagon contracts to three Southern textile firms accused of job discrimination may be questionable in terms of tradition. But they "cannot be equally questioned in terms of results" in insuring fair hiring practices.

Packard awarded the companies $9.4 million in contracts when they promised to take action to comply with the nondiscrimination laws. Critics—including subcommittee chairman Edward M. Kennedy—said he should have obtained written compliance agreements first.

Shultz said a Transportation Department change in the method of insuring compliance by highway contractors is considered by the Labor Department to be stronger than the procedure it replaced.

Shultz was called to testify because his department is responsible for seeing that federal labor regulations are complied with by companies doing business with the government.

He said the previous method —advance actions by highway contractors to insure nondiscrimination—required elaborate paperwork, caused serious delays and "did not commit contractors to the achievement of tangible results."

In contrast, he said, the new procedures require certain basic actions as part of the contract specifications and provide a way for inluding OFCC programs, which the earlier one did not.

The new procedure covers contracts of $10,000 or more, while the old one was limited to contracts of a half-million dollars or more.

Two Sentenced for Wartime Crimes

GRAZ, Austria (AP) —An Austrian court today sentenced two high police officials to prison for their part in the wartime murder of Polish Jews.

The officials appealed the verdict.

Gerulf Mayer, a police major, received an 11-year prison term, and Inspector Alfred Lusser was sentenced to seven yaers.

Two others charged in the case were acquitted.

Mayer was found guilty of having murdered two children and one adult and to have taken part in liquidation of the Polish village Polska-Skala, in which 92 persons were killed.

day, U.S. aircraft losses were skyrocketing. The U.S. Command reported 35 helicopters lost in the past week, including 23 shot down and 12 lost to other causes. Most of the latter apparently were destroyed in the nightly Viet Cong shelling of American bases.

Seven of the helicopters were shot down in the past two days, with 17 Americans killed and only one survivor.

The weekly summary of aircraft losses said a total of 2,477 American helicopters now have been lost in the war, while losses of fixed-wing aircraft increased by 10 in the past week to 2,625. The increase was due mostly to a rocket attack on the Chu Lai air base south of Da Nang.

American forces in the northern part of Vietnam reported killing 190 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in a series of hard fights.

Arabs Want Peace Talks By Big Four

declared that the Middle East crisis was approaching the explosive stage, and that it was up to the Big Four powers to act to prevent a blowup.

He spoke as the chief U.N. delegates bf the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France—all permanent members of th ecouncil—prepared to meet to discuss how to achieve a durable Middle East peace.

Nasser said he was resisting pressure to launch reprisal strikes against Israeli civilian targets, but added: "The day will come when the bombing and shelling of Egyptian civilians will be answered by the bombing and shelling of civilians."

He expressed dissatisfaction with U.S. proposals for the Middle East, saying there was really no change in policy toward Israel under President Nixon.

Israel has declared repeatedly that it will not accept a peace settlement imposed by the Big Four, and that it is up to the Arabs and Israel to achieve peace through negotiations.

The United States has taken cognizance of the Israeli position, and in informal billateral talks with the other three powers has stressed a voluntary and not an imposed settlement.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik supported Jordan's charges in the Council. In addition to castigating Israel in genera, Malik said it was obvious that the Israeli government sought to subvert Big Four peace efforts.

"At a time when important negotiations are going on that everyone hopes will lead to constructive results, this is particularly dangerous and pregnant with serious consequences, particularly for Israel itself," he declared.

He said Israel sought to prevent the Big Four talks from ending in success and added: "But we cannot tolerate that."

U.S. Ambassador Dharels W. Yost referred also to the Big Four peace efforts, but made no mention of either Israel or the Arab countries as helping or hindering the over-all objective of peace.

He said that while the United States condemned the Israeli raid on Wednesday "we cannot refrain from condemning other grave violations from the other side which have taken place."

Yost said preliminary diplomatic consultations were aimed at seeking ways of helping Gunnar Jarring, the special U.N. representative who has been trying since December 1967 to arrange an Arab-Israeli peace settlement.

Protestors Are Sick, Declares Ex-Chief Justice

"America was born in violence, grew up in violence, and will die in violence."

"The free world is where people are free to struggle against imperialism."

These people are revolutionaries who are preaching what once was called "treason," Moore declared.

Ranging from history's early days with Hammurabi and his code of laws, down through Moses, the Greeks and Romans and on to John Marshall, America's third chief justice of the Supreme Court, Judge Moore declared that "all battles for freedom, no matter how far removed in time from us here tonight are part of America's history."

"The greatest advances ever made in human liberty and the uplifting of mankind have been made here in America, although the goal is not fully attained."

"We are the hope for humanity. We now are at the edge of a precipice, and below on the rocky floor of the canyon we can seek the skeletons of civilizations before ours that failed —civilizations that floundered on selfishness, hate, lawless, disorder and the disregard of human values."

It remains to be seen, said the judge, if America will pass over the abyss, or fall to the hard floor below to mix its skeleton with those of the earlier civilizations that fell because they failed to measure up.

In this nation people interested in uplifting humanity can take their plans to the people and get approval of them, he declared.

The judge urged all persons interested in preserving their country to give the support to the forces in society that are attempting to maintain an orderly society and enforce the law.

The cornerstones of American society, the judge declared, are these: 1. All men are created equal; 2. All men have unalienable rights; 3. Governments are instituted among men, and 4. Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

In a society anchored on those four cornerstones, people enjoy more rights than in any other place on earth and more than have ever before been enjoyed in any time in history, said the judge.

He added that freedom is never absolute, but that it includes recognition of responsibility, respect for law, and responsible conduct.

"Freedom" said Judge Moore, "is liberty under law — adherence to and respect for the law."

also included Archbishop Joseph Walula of the Congo, who will become the third black African prince of the church.

Until the reign of Pope John XXIII, there had never been more than 70 cardinals, a limit set by Pope Sixtus V in 1586. At that time the total world population was about 360 million. Today there are more than 550 million Roman Catholics.

Pope Paul's 35 new cardinals are the largest number elevated at one time to the purple. The previous record number was named by Pope Pius XII, who appointed 32 in 1946, just after World War II.

In his previous two consistories Pope Paul appointed 27 cardinals each time. He has now named a total of 89 cardinals.

Bicycle Rider Hurt in Mishap

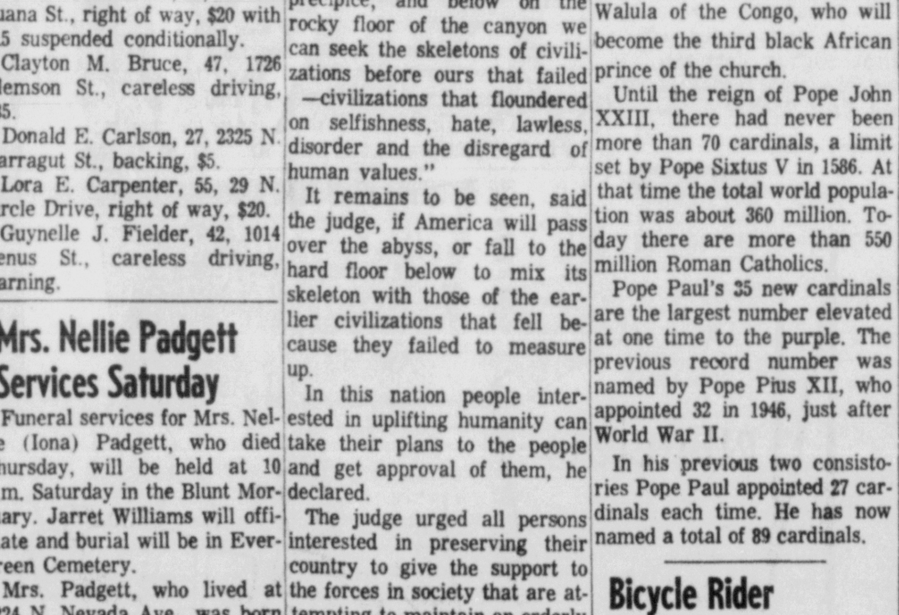

A six-year-old Colorado Springs boy was injured Thursday afternoon in a bicycle riding incident.

Wade Allen Wetherbee, 895 S. 8th St., was riding his bicycle in the company of his brother.

The two cyclists turned onto Fountain Creek Boulevard from Eighth Street and the boy came down a hill very fast. He was barely missed by a car and then lost control of his bicycle when it hit a dip. He was thrown from the bicycle.

The boy was taken to St. Francis Hospital by E and E Ambulance where he was treated for a cut forehead and lip, chipped tooth, abrasions and contusions to both hands and arms.

The incident was reported by Cpl. H.A. Grondahl of the city police department.

Hogan Says Park Backers Need Lobby

Lt. Gov. Mark Hogan Thursday said that Colorado is badly in need of an overall recreation lobby for passage of legislation favorable to parks and recreation.

He spoke before assembled members and representatives of the Colorado Parks and Recreation Society in annual spring conference at the Broadmoor Hotel.

"Important bills affecting park and recreation are being pigeon-holed due to lack of public interest," he said.

A lobby for specialized recreation groups directed at the state legislature would not be too difficult to get, he explained, and should be organized before the legislature meets again.

"You people should start work by contacting those running for office before election. At least, your problems would come before the public eye. Contributions to candidates would help to warm hearts and open ears."

Among bills "languishing" presently in the legislatures he noted a bill to increase hunting and fishing fees in this state, a bill pressing for the reverting of unclaimed money to the state for use in park and recreation development, leased land rental and sale, moratorium on billboards, recodification, regulation of snowmobiles, and a campers tax.

He urged that park and recreation interests actively support legislators and legislation. "We won't ever become a big industry, big population state. What we do have is a clean environment and to this we must add a full recreation program.

"We have lagged in this area for too long with too little thought given to our natural environment, preservation, and parks.

Man Robbed Of About $65

Colorado Springs police are investigating an armed robbery which occurred in downtown area about 1:15 a.m. Thursday.

Muriel Lee Allen, 228 S. Prospect St., was robbed of about $65 at knifepoint by two Negro males, both of whom were in their early 30s, had small builds and were between 5 feet and 5 feet 5 inches tall.

The bandits got back into an automobile and drove away after the robbery.

"Sure, come on in, Sheldon...I've had a completely miserable day anyway!"

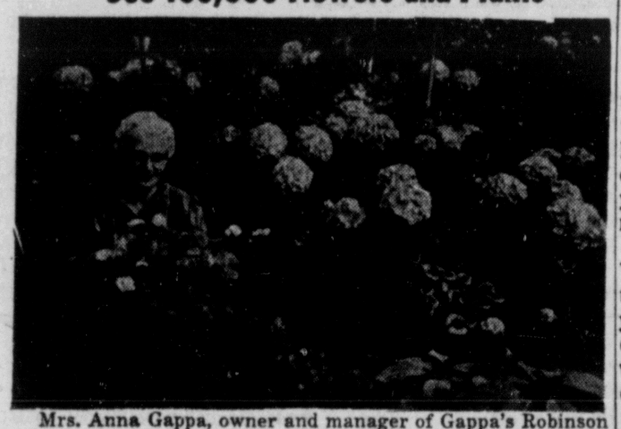

Military Groups Aid Boys Ranch

As far as youngsters at the Brockhurst Boys Ranch are concerned, the military and civilian personnel of the Army Air Defense Command (ARADCOM) and Fort Carson are "service aces" at the ping pong table or not. A combination of hard cash and equally hard work has refurbished the recreation area of the boys ranch. ARADCOM men and women, with a large assist from Catholic personnel at Ft. Carson, chipped in both the money and labor to complete the project as part of the annual ARADCOM Christmas fund. When the last nail had been hammered and the final brush of paint spread, Maj. Gen. Raymond L. Shoemaker ARADCOM deputy commanding general, traveled to the ranch to officially turn over the renovated area. Maj. Kenneth Raab was project director, assisted by SFC R. E. Stearns. Chaplain (Col.) L. F. Stegman was overall chairman of the Christmas Fund.

By Carroll Righter

SATURDAY'S FORECAST

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You and most of your friends are bubbling over with charm today and tonight. Be outgoing. Get in touch with as many acquaintances as possible. Let them know what you have in mind, and go along with their creative ideas. Fine also for entertainments of all kinds as well as romantic happiness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Concentrate now on your social life and be sure to repay a social responsibility you have been bothered about for some time. To insure happiness for the future, do a special favor for one you love.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Concentrate on your basic aims. See what can be done to turn them into reality. You find that your family will now go along with you. Be very practical with them.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Think in big terms now, especially where your creative ideas are concerned. Start a bold, big, new project. Show that you have perseverance. Talk over your ambitions with partners. They are in a mood to assist you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You realize that you don't have enough money so you will now plan to change your direction. You are inspired to develop a workable formula for success. Be accurate in all that you do.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Better make notes of your ideas so that you will not forget them later when you want to advance quickly. Do something to please your associates. Show you are a most thoughtful person.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have more work to do on those important affairs before you bring them to the attention of your superiors. An expert who has helped you should be complimented now in the best way you knnow how. Be happy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Keep busy, doing whatever makes you so delightful socially and others will respect you much more. Gain your aims quietly. Show your generosity to others and this will bring fine results in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Follow your clever plan so that you can operate well in your vocation. A teacher has given you much assistance. Show your appreciation and gain favor for the future, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is a good day to make the change you've contemplated. Study those conditions that assure your progress in the future. Gather the information you need. Plan now for that trip you want to make.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Establish a better association with those to whom you are obligated. Show them you are generous and have vision. Make collections, also. This evening will be a wonderful time for romance and high spirits.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can start some clever plan to expand in your present set-up and become more successful. Come to a better understanding with a partner. Avoid those persons who always give you a bad time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take all the time you need to make your home so much more charming and comfortable. See to it that appliances are working efficiently. Why don't you see that play tonight that could give you more pleasure?

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will be one of those very delightful young people who has tact and the ability to make others feel happy and important. Slant the education toward public entertainment, government service, or the diplomatic corps. There is much pride here, also, but if you teach early not to show it so much others won't be disappointed with your progeny. Spiritual training and ethics are very important here, too.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

H. L. Hunt Writes

RIGHT ANGLE

The young people of the "New Left" get in the headlines, but what they say and do will have far less effect on the future of America than the activities of other young Americans who have the right angle and are on the right side of the fight to save freedom.

Many of these young people, cheerful but concerned, are being heard through Youth Freedom Speakers, a voluntary, non-profit organization created by and for them. YFS encourages American youth to think, to speak their minds before live and radio-TV audiences, and to make suggestions about how to turn things around.

Youth Freedom Speakers are saying that young Americans love their country, recognize duty, and most believe in the Supreme Being. They expect Americans to know why these qualities are vital in each citizen. They are asking questions, for they realize that we do not exist in a perfect world, and adults who care about freedom should be prepared to suggest answers.

In this Nuclear Age, in a time of constant threat by international anti-freedom forces, our young people have a lot to think about. Those enrolled in Youth Freedom Speakers are doing a lot of thinking, and they are speaking their thoughts not only to youth but to adults as well.

The adult world will be well advised to listen. The voice of a Youth Freedom Speaker is more authentically American than the shouted obscenities of any New Lefter. These youngsters with the right angle are showing grownups that something can be done to save freedom. HLH

APPEALS

BOSTON (AP) — Actor James Cagney, who has a summer home on Martha's Vineyard, has appealed to the state legislature to save the island vacation spot from becoming a jetliner stop.

In a telegram to the House Ways and Means Committee, which is considering an appropriation for a jet runway, Cagney said:

"For more than 30 years I have watched Martha's Vineyard go downhill as a place of natural wonder and peaceful haven. Now they are talking of runways for jets. Is there to be no end to the destruction of all that is natural and worthwhile? Please give it some thought."

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON — Hubert Humphrey finds the Nixon administration a riddle right now. He predicts that it will take another six weeks to get the administration "into perspective" so the Democrats can attack it.

This appraisal in an interview with the Associated Press' Jack Bell shows how some of the great minds in politics think alike. Strom Thurmond also is at a loss to figure out what President Nixon is up to. Seldom have the GOP conservatives and the left-of-center Democrats had so much in common on the ignorance level.

Congress generally is also restive. It cannot figure out the President in his approach to decision making. What also bothers the politicians, both in and out of Congress, is that the President acts so relaxed, as if he had perfect peace of mind in seeking, or coming up with, solutions to the big intricate problems of the day.

Here is a President who sought to soften the antiballistic missile controversy by shifting position slightly from LBJ, not dramatically but quietly. Here, too, is a President keeping his cool on the Vietnam issue, and also on the "campus unrest" issue, emphasizing the need of patience on each and the lack of a magic wand to bring quick solutions.

And all the time he acts unbothered, while some congressional leaders of his own party are very provoked because he isn't as upset as they are over the state of the world, the nation, and his slow motion on party patronage.

The net result is that Nixon is supposed to be a riddle, simply because he doesn't act as if his burdens were heavy, but acts as if they were light and he was capable of carrying them jauntily and happily.

This is what infuriates so many. Especially Democrats like Humphrey.

They want Nixon to exhibit presidential strain just as John F. Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson did before him. The lights in the White House should have been kept burning all night, with people running in and out, while Nixon made up his mind on the ABM issue and such like.

Humphrey also is very upset about the way Nixon is letting time "run out very fast" without straining to come up with policy decisions that the Democrats can attack and the Republicans defend. Thurmond is equally perplexed about the direction in which Nixon is headed.

What these two and other practitioners of the art of the "old politics" should realize is that there is no enigma or riddle surrounding the Nixon presidency. What is now unfolding is a melding of political and spiritual philosophy. This unique blending has yet to be properly spotlighted, largely because most politicians lack any experience in assessing totally new ingredients in presidential behavior.

In order to understand Nixon it is absolutely necessary to comprehend the significance of his inaugural address. In that speech lies the clue to the way he is performing.

At the time of delivery on Jan. 20, its spiritual and moral tone, its total lack of political specifics, was considered elevating, but, like a Sunday sermon, not very enduring on Monday morning in a workaday world.

That was a major mistake. All that Nixon has done since emphasizes his adherence to the principles he spelled out then. He set his presidential star on a course that was precise —to find "an answer of the spirit" to the "raucous disorders" plaguing the world.

The nature of this total commitment was not one that politicians were able to understand. That is the basic reason for the present compulsion to make the President an elusive figure difficult to categorize.

All that most people can remember of that Nixon inaugural — and this is probably true of Humphrey as well — was his promise to lower voices, end inflated rhetoric, and instead speak quietly. Much sarcastic fun was made of that approach. Too little attention was given to his stressing of the need to "cement what units us" and "to surmount what divides us."

This never meant that politics would not be played, and with as much acumen as possible, in the Nixon administration. But Nixon's personal allegiance to a new format, one rung above traditional politics, has already been displayed, but not sufficiently noticed.

In his March 4 report to the nation on his European swing he wholly abstained — unlike his predecessors — from the usual political denunciation of Communist aggression, instead of emphasizing, in effect, the need of trying to negotiate for common interests.

Similarly, in this weekend's statement on campus unrest, he accented the need of getting youth in line through action of the academic community rather than by means of a federal crackdown.

He has thus pretty well made known the way he is moving in the presidency. Those insisting they remain perplexed should study that inaugural text again. It also provides convincing proof that Nixon himself is calm, cool and collected because he has found peace of mind in his own melding of a political and spiritual philosophy.

Excommunic. Of Perez Lifted, Spokesmen Say

By BENNET M. BOLTON

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The initiative for a chain of events that led to the lifting of the excommunication of the late Leander H. Perez came not from him but from the Roman Catholic Church.

A church official, who asked not to be identified, said it started with a speech by Perez, who died at the age of 77 last week, at an obscure dedication more than a year ago.

Perez, arch-segregationist and powerful political leader of Plaquemines Parish, was cut off by his lifelong church in 1962 for blocking the opening of a parochial school that had been integrated.

It did not particularly bother Perez, at least publicly. "If they think they can send me to hell, I beat them to it and I told them to go to hell," he once said.

The New Orleans Archdiocese began discreet contacts with the aging Perez soon after his wife died in February 1967, according to informed church sources reluctant to talk much about it. The purpose was to see whether, underneath all his thunder, Perez might really want to return to normal church standing.

The archbishop who had excommunicated Perez was dead. A new archbishop, Philip M. Hannan, sat in New Orleans.

By careful arrangement, the sources said, the archdiocese let Perez know that almost anything he might say in a public way that could be construed as "supporting the authority of the church" would be enough to lift the censure.

The chance came in March 1968 at the dedication of a new incinerator plant near a remote Mississippi Delta town 50 miles south of New Orleans.

Perez gave a speech there before a handful of townspeople and workmen—and two priests. He included remarks of praise about parochial schools and about the new archbishop.

Back came the word sometime later, conveyed privately by a priest, that he was absolved from his six-year-old censure.

Not until after Perez died did the city become aware of his return to the Catholic sacraments.

The news caused some protests locally, including a complaint from six priests who said the lifting of the excommunication was not sufficiently publicized.

An American newsman who raised a similar general question a few years ago in Rome, in a conversation with Pope Paul's secretary, was told that the church leaves it up to a reinstated individual to tell about it or say nothing.

If the church were to make its own announcement, the monsignor explained, it might needlessly embarrass the person.

"It is always better to lean to secrecy when you are dealing with the affairs of a private conscience," he said.

Pikes Peak Region News? . . . By Far the Most in the Gazette Telegraph

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

BY WALTER TROHAN
Chief Of Chicago Tribune's Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — In two months in the White House Preisdent Nixon has learned what a splendid misery the leadership of the nation can be. This is the reason for his call on an old political foe, Harry S. Truman, in Independence, Mo., last week. Now that he is in the White House, Mr. Nixon has a different understanding of the man who liked to make decisions.

About the same period in the White House, President Kennedy called his friend and former Senate colleague, Barry Goldwater, into his office. The chief executive regarded the senator thoughtfully and then exclaimed, "What in hell do you want this job for?"

Actually, Goldwater never did want it. He was trapped into running because his crusade for conservatism fired many to crusade for him. Now that he has returned to the Senate, Goldwater is the happiest man in Washington, not excluding the victorious President.

Goldwater is finding friends everywhere. Mr. Nixon is finding he loses friends no matter what he does. He is also finding that it is next to impossible to do what he promised in the campaign, so much so that he seems to be punting on the first down every time he gets the ball.

He is discovering he can't cut spending and he can't clean house as he promised. Most spending programs are wired into the budget and almost all bureaucrats are wired into their jobs. He is finding he has to get along with pretty much the same team his predecessor had and that he has to continue such doubtful programs as the office of economic opportunity and the Equal Employment Opportunity commission.

In Viet Nam the enemy strikes at the South Vietnamese capital while United States force are enjoined from retaliatory action against the North Vietnamese capital. Mr. Nixon has warned of retaliation, but hesitates to order it. Meanwhile, the war of words and inaction continues in Paris.

Congress is deadlocked in a struggle over anti-ballistic missile defenses. Mr. Nixon took a half-way stance between the hawks and doves, favoring some ABM development. Whether this is good or bad cannot be tested short of war. If Russia should attack, there very likely won't be any doves around to blame or hawks to praise—both may be destroyed together.

Republicans are grumbling over every job that goes to a Democrat. Some are complaining that the change Mr. Nixon promised doesn't seem to be in the cards. Democrats have been applauding but not joining the new President. Some Democrats are complaining that he isn't liberal enough.

While many applauded Mr. Nixon's declared intent to withhold federal funds from student rioters, the educational community, as a whole, was not pleased. Students naturally don't like any kind of control and some professors raise their hands in horror over what they consider federal intervention in their private domain.

Some students and some professors welcome federal money, but they want delivery at the edge of the campus. They want money to finance their protests. Perhaps if students pay their own way, they should have the right to protest, but it's a bit on the sticky side when they want a greater voice or the controlling voice on the campus when they are financed by parents or by taxes. Maybe the government shouldn't move in, but when parents fail to exercise their purse string control, it may be up to the President to do so.

And in two months Mr. Nixon has come to grips with the greatest domestic problem of them all — inflation. He has found himself forced to retain the surtax he promised to erase during the campaign and to tighten money by encouraging a rise in interest rates, but the spiral continues. It seems the people and industry are wedded to inflation as a way of life.

Inflation means more wages and more profits for the same work and goods and it also means more taxes. Inflation is a thief which everyone appears to welcome as a Robin Hood, including the President, although it adds to his headaches.

MY ANSWER
by Billy Graham

© 1969, By the Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

Why is it that so many bad people have such a good time in life and make so much money while I struggle to support my family and make ends meet? H.V.

The Bible has answered your question long ago. Read the thirty-seventh Psalm and remember this is God's viewpoint, not man's. Also, in the ninety-second Psalm we find these words: "When the wicked spring as the grass, and when all the workers of iniquity do flourish; it is that they shall be destroyed forever." People living in sin, whether rich or poor, are to be pitied. Many people spend money to find true happiness but never find it because they look for it in diversions and in material things. True happiness comes in one way — by surrendering our hearts to Christ and letting Him take over in our lives. When God's Holy Spirit opens our eyes and hearts and minds, we see that the things the world offers can never satisfy. The Apostle Paul gives us the Christian's perspective in these words: "While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen are temporal (temporary) seen are teporal (temporary) but the things which are not seen are eternal." If you are disturbed by the apparent injustices of life, turn your heart over to Christ and He will let you see and receive the things which last forever. And, do not be jealous of the prospering sinner, be sorry for him and pray for him. He needs God, too.

Maj. J. W. Leland Decorated for Action

Air Force Maj. James W. Leland, son of Mrs. Izma A. Corbin, Rt 3, North Gate Road, has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal for action in Vietnam.

Maj. Leland distinguished himself by meritorious service as an air operations staff officer at Saigon. He was cited for his outstanding job performance.

He was presented the medal during ceremonies at Hickam AFB, Hawaii, where he is serving in a unit of the Pacific Air Forces.

Maj. Leland received his B. S. degree and commission in 1953 from the U. S. Military Academy.

By BRIAN SULLIVAN

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon's Fifth Avenue apartment overlooking Central Park is up for sale and "it's all being handled very quietly."

"Anyone who wants to look at it or wishes to buy it has to talk to the bank," said McCrea Parker of Brown Haris Stevens Inc., real estate agents who manage the building.

The reason for all the secrecy, Parker said, is that the residents of the building at 810 Fifth Ave., cherish their privacy. Having Richard M. Nixon as a neighbor put them on stage.

As candidate and President-elect, he attracted crowds every time he stepped from the front door, and the building was the object of special attention, regardless of the hour, from police and swarms of reporters and cameramen.

"The residents of the building had no peace and quiet at all, and they want to go unnoticed again," Parker said. "We want to find somebody who will live there very quietly.

"The residents are just up in arms. They don't want to see another Secret Service man or another reporter.

"I don't even mention who lived there before," he said. "Now it's just another empty apartment. There's no price on it. We just tell people to talk to the bank."

At the Franklin National Bank, an official who was asked about the price replied, "No comment."

Nixon bought the cooperative apartment for $135,000 in 1963, when he came to New York from California.

A real estate agent who handles property in the area says the apartment could command $300,000 to $325,000 now. It is a 12-room, fifth floor apartment at the corner of 62nd Street.

One of the residents of the building—who will have to give his approval to any purchaser since he is one of the cooperators—is New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Pravda Says Problems May Be Ironed Out

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda expressed confidence today that many disagreements among Communist parties can be ironed out before the planned June 5 world conference in Moscow.

But, the newspaper added in a front-page editorial, "it is no secret that there are difficulties at the present time in the world Communist movement," an allusion to problems with China.

"The Marxist-Leninists are fully and firmly resolved to successfully traverse the last stretch of the path" leading to a harmonious conferenec, said Pravda.

Former Minister Is Sentenced for Fraud

VIENNA (AP) — Franz Olah, a former Socialist interior minister and once one of the most powerful men in Austria, was sentenced today to a year in prison for fraud.

The court also ordered that he be given only bread and water one day every three months of the sentence.

After a 16-day trial, the court found Olah guilty of deceiving officials of an Austrian bank between 1963 and 1965 and of using two bank accounts to defraud the Austrian Trade Union Council of $48,000.

Olah, who rose from a piano maker's apprentice to president of the trade union council, was ousted from the Socialist party after an interparty power struggle in 1964. He later started his own party but it so far has been unable to gain any importance.

Dear Ele and Walt: With the new freedom in movies, it seems that almost anything goes. My teacher said that when "Lolita" first came out, minors couldn't see it. Now it's shown on TV for everyone and no one thinks anything of it. I guess that means "Candy," "Therese and Isabelle" and "The Fox" will eventually be on TV, too. Where do you think movies will ultimately go? And should all of them be shown on TV? — English Class Survey.

Dear Survey: There's no question of where film exploration is headed. We will eventually see explicit acts of sexual intercourse on our screens.

The lead has already been taken in Scandinavia where at least one country has dropped all censorship, giving books, magazines and films free rein to show whatever they will. That means that what were formerly labeled "stag movies" are now marqueed on the main boulevards.

Is this disastrous? Well, in the most liberal of Scandinavian countries, Denmark, once pornography was legalized the sales dropped off and so did the percentage sex crimes. Would the same thing happen in American? Theres no assurance it would but we'd guess yes.

Should such films end up on the home TV screen? We'd cringe but if it comes we'd hope at least they'll be booked for after 10 p.m. showing. It's too disconcerting to think of a five-year-old looking up from his coloring book and asking the family for an explanation of just what that assorted crew of weird men were doing to "Candy." That's not our idea of a good beginning to sex education. Is it yours? — Ele and Walt.

Dear Ele: Is there any way to make a girl look shorter and her boyfriend look taller? If so, please tell me. I am a girl 13 years old and my boyfriend is 12 but he is about a head shorter than I. — Too Tall.

Dear Tall: Don't slump! Slumping is as good as carrying a placard saying: "I'm a head taller than Dave and we're embarrassed about it." Instead, be sure both of you make full use of the height nature gave you. But naturally you'll wear flats instead of heels when you've dates with him.

When you're walking hand-in-hand, there's no way for you to minimize the height difference. Just return the stares of curious strangers with friendly smiles. If friends tease, tell them, "We've decided no tape measure was going to keep us apart." — Ele.

Dear Ele and Walt: I invited a boy from another school to my school dance but it was too late and he already has other plans for the night. I was very embarrassed about the whole thing. That was three months ago.

Now there's another dance coming up and I really would like to make another try for him. The dance is five weeks off, but do you think it would seem like I was hard-up if I asked him a second after he refused the first for good reason? — Camille.

Dear Camille: Make your move but don't mention the previous invitation. A girl can ask two times without seeming anxious. But in my opinion, a third try is pushing it.

If a boy has had two indications of her interest and he doesn't make some "let's get together" pitch for a date himself, then he's not really interested in her company on that basis. — Ele and Walt.

Rusk Says He Sees Hope for Mideast Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk says he believes the Big Four powers will meet "and come up with a useful suggestion" for ending the Israeli-Arab conflict.

"They can help the two sides to do things which otherwise the two sides would feel it very difficult to do without the prodding from the Big Four," he said.

Rusk, in an intervew for the NBC "Today" show, did not say when he thought the United States, Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union would meet or what they might suggest.

He said that because of elections in Israel, and Arab fears that leaders will oe assassinated if certain steps toward peace are taken, both sides "may be too weak to be wise."

On the subject of China Rusk said he hoped "that when the next generation of leadership appears on the scene . . . there will be a more pragmatic approach to the probems of China by its own leadership."

He said that while he was in office "we tried repeatedly, year after year, to get some sort of conversation started with them, in the talks in Warsaw."

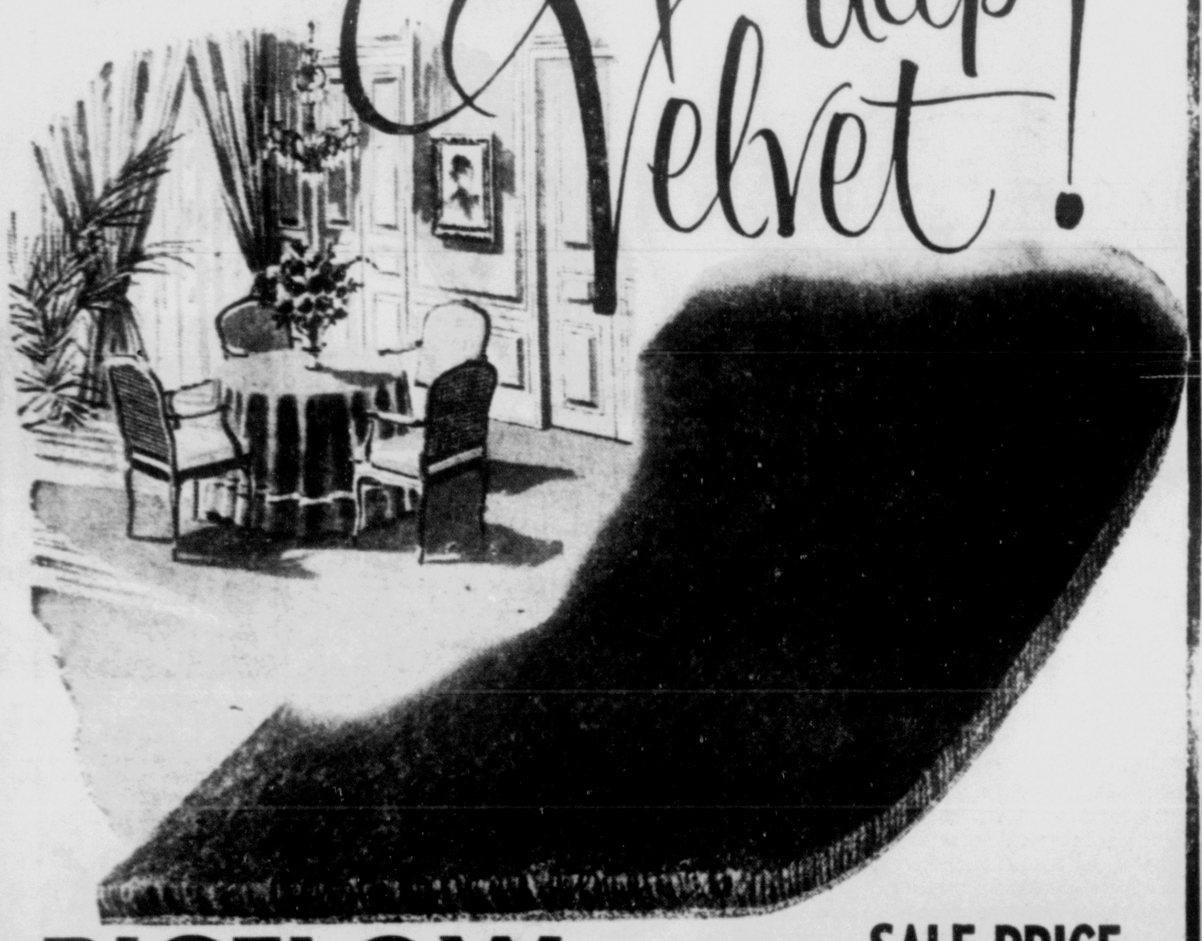

Rusk said the current Chinese leaders are "very strange people, not because they're Oriental but because they have a combination of ideology and isolationistic misunderstanding of the rest of the world."

Taxpayers Attack City Sales Tax

The Taxpayers of El Paso County organization Thursday night went after the proposal to continue the one per cent sales and use tax with a vengeance, attacking it without abandon and attempting to formulate ways to defeat the measure.

The group also slapped at members of the present city council as a body, and in some cases at individual members of the council as well as accusing the local League of Women Voters and the Colorado Springs Charter Association of composing a "political machine" that controls the city.

It all started when council candidate John F. Narad took a whack at the council's action of last Tuesday authorizing expenditures that could amount to $250,000 over a five-year period to jointly finance a teenage recreation and educational center in Colorado Springs.

Narad said this council action had almost made him change his mind in supporting the sales tax.

He said he was "not up on any of the issues" and said that the Pikes Peak Area Council of Governments was a "wasted expense."

The council candidate contended that the city auditorium and school gymnasiums could serve the same function as the proposed teenage center at far less cost.

In answer to another question, Narad said, "I haven't even looked into a lot of things that possibly I should have, even before I started running."

Narad did say he opposed the districting measure and accused the city administration of not paying decent wages to some city employes while overpaying others. He said that police and firemen were underpaid but did not elaborate on who might be overpaid.

After Narad finished, the real fireworks began as members of the group started taking pot shots at everyone and everything in sight.

Ray Curtis, a member of the group, forecast that the teenage center would be used only "by hoodlums" and that "decent folk won't be able to walk into the place inside of three months."

Curtis then directed his attacks elsewhere.

"They've got a political machine set up here of the League of Women Voters and The Charter Association and they've got all the politicians scared of them," Curtis said.

The chairman of the meeting, Luke Zell, directed the discussion back to the teen center and contended that the "taxpayers are not obligated to help run this experiment."

He said that this council action "can be turned against them in regard to the sales tax" and further contended that the Taxpayers organization was the only one trying to stop spiralling taxes.

One man in the audience wanted to fire the city manager and proposed a plan of refusing to pay taxes in order to obtain relief from the "high tax burden."

Still another member of the organization referred to a current council member as being "brainwashed" and averred that the member was not allowed to talk unless "they," the city administration, 'have something to say about what it said.'

Still another man asked how the mayor and council could be removed.

"We don't need the mayor and the council," he said. The man then asked, "How would you go about doing away with them altogether?"

The group took a straw ballot and found they were in favor or reducing the council term from six to four years and were in favor of districting. The group was opposed to continuation of the burning ban and violently opposed to the continuation of the sales tax.

The organization, after considerable discussion of the pros and cons of various city council candidates, indefinitely postponed taking any action on a united stand by the group for or against individual candidates.

The left little doubt, however, that they were not impressed by past performances of incumbent council members and would "support the people who would be for the people."

NEW MERCEDES COUPE — C. S. Trosper of the Thoroughbred Car Co., 2353 East Highway 24, has announced the addition of a new line of Mercedes-Benz automobiles, the new 250 Coupe, which has been declared by car magazines as ideal for American driving conditions. The six-cylinder in line engine produces 157 horsepower. The bodywork is almost two inches lower than the sedan. Chassis and coachwork follows the basic Mercedes safety principles.

FLOWER POWER — The new Datsun automobile comes with a flower-power covering, the newest in mod fashions, in the shape of a rooftop which makes it ideal for spring and summer, and any other time to put a bright note into your drinving. The Datsun is featured by the Thoroughbred Car Co., 2353 E. Highway 24, which also is the Mercedes-Benz dealer in Colorado Springs.

City Plans $478,000 for Parks if Tax Is Approved

Colorado Springs plans to spend $478,000 on park improvements in 1969 provided that the one per cent city sales tax passes in Tuesday's election, according to City Manager George Fellows.

Fellows spoke Thursday before the opening session of the annual spring conference of the Colorado Parks and Recreation Society at the Broadmoor Hotel. He shared the opening ceremonies with Mayor Eugene McCleary and Tom Brennan, president of the society.

"Since the city sales tax went into effect last March, we have been doing a lot to improve our parks," said Fellows. "Prior to that time no seeable improvements were possible.

"Since last March, $1.6 million have been collected and of that, $240,000 has been spent on improvement in 23 parks, actual usable improvements."

He explained that he hopes Colorado Springs will continue the sales tax.

"Too often, lack of money prunes thin areas such as parks and recreation," he said.

"By the end of this year, Colorado Spring will have doubled its population in 10 years. One thousand to 1,100 people are added to our area each month. In total area alone, the city will have tripled. I feel we need park money."

Before the advent of the city sales tax nine months ago, he said, the Parks and Recreation Department, since 1964, had requested up to $200,000 per year for park improvements. Each year, he continued, the actual money received amounted to approximately $1,500 spent on picnic tables.

"It cost from $30,000 to $40,000 to get a 10-acre four -sided park into shape beforeimprovements. This means no grass, no sprinklers, no playground equipment.

"In 1967," he said, "we made a five -year study for 1968 to 1972 and the park department was found to need $1,826,700 for that time period. The average was $365,000 per year.

"When the sales tax was acquired we were able to spend $240,000 on improvements. We hope to continue the tax and make Memorial Park one of the best in the state of Coloraoo."

Three Soccer Disqualified For Life

BARI, Italy (AP) — Three soccer players were disqualified for life, another suspended for one year and the other seven members of the team disqualified for two months Thursday for attacking a referee during a match.

Officials said all 11 members of the Casarano team of southern Italy chased the referee, Giuseppe Lupo, and beat him when they became angered at a decision he made in a game with Lizzanello last Sunday.

20 Counties in Area Explore Steps Toward Council of Governments

By RAY BROUSSARD
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

PUEBLO — Representatives from 20 southern Colorado counties Thursday took a giant step toward formation of a broad regional council of governments, that eventually is aimed at taking in the whole Arkansas Valley.

Officials said its main thrust would be to "combine for the purpose of identifying area wide problems and resolving them through inter -governmental cooperaton and coordination.

Admittedly of a more massive nature, the areawide organization, nonetheless would parallel the concept of the Pikes Peak Area Council of Governments (PPACG) in Colorado Springs.

Besides pooling all planning problems in one big basket and hoping the collective brainpower can solve the issues better than tiny towns and small counties can, the biggest stated advantage, will be that the broad -based regional council of governments will be in a better position to pry loose huge sums of Federal grants.

Such were the conclusions drawn at the end of Thursday's day-long "Conference on Regional Councils, Planning and Development," held in the Life Sciences Building of the Belmont Campus of Southern Colorado State College.

One of the principal speakers on a panel was Mike Meehan, executive director of PPACG, but national, regional and community leaders were on hand for the conference that was sponsored by the Regional Service Institute (RSI) of the college.

To clear the path for formation of the multi -county council of governments, the county representatives on hand Thursday voted unanimously to disband the Arkansas Valley Association of local governments (AVA).

AVA was the name tentatively given to a regional council that had been planned for about two years in southern Colorado. Initially, 18 cities and 10 counties pledged or donated about $1,400 for its creation. Its original thrust was to aid economically -depressed areas.

El Paso County was one of the first asked to join, but was considered ineligible. Under the original setup the main object would have been toward alleviating economic hardships in the 20 southern Colorado counties considered.

El Paso, because of its higher income per capita factor would not have qualified for some of the Federal economic funds being sought.

But with Thursday's action that heralds the abandonment of AVA, county representatives directed that the Southern Colorado Economic Development District (SCEDD) use the $1,400 to investigate feasible ways of setting up a regional council of governments, and its objectives would be toward solving planning and development problems on a broad scope.

SCEDD, formed some time ago, was created to promote economic development throughout southern Colorado. SCEDD is administered, under contract, by the Regional Service Institute.

El Paso County, because of the proposed change in status of the new organization, will be invited to join because it would be eligible on a regional planning basis. The organization would concentrate on planning problems, and leave the economic development angle to SCEDD.

Counties already pledged, at least in part, include Baca, Bent, Caffee, Crowley, Custer, Fremont, Herfano, Lake, Otero and Pueblo, and the cities of Cheraw, Canon City, Crowley, Fowler, La Junta, Ordway, Manzanola, Poncha Springs, Salida, Two Buttes, Vilas, Walsenburg, Walsh, Westcliffe, Wiley, Las Animas, Lamar and Campo.

Acting as chairman for Thursday's activities was Edward Touber, mayor of Salida.

The day was divided into two panel discussions: heading the morning session were C. James Dowden, deputy director of the National Service to Regional Councils, Washington, D.C.; Frederick H. Eaton, deputy director of planning assistance in the Office of Development Districts, Economic Development Administration of Washington, D.C.; Jerry Hannon, project coordination and services planning branch of the Regional Office of Department of Housing, Ft. Worth, Tex.; and Ernest C. Phillips, acting Colorado state director, Farmers Home Administration, Denver.

Afternoon panelists included Alan Blomquist, director of Pueblo Regional Planning Commission; James N. Miles, director of the Colorado State Planning Office; James Braman, chairman of the planning officials section of the Colorado Municipal League; Leo T. Surla, Jr., executive director of SCEDD; and Mike Meehan of Colorado Springs, director of PPACG.

Meehan explained how PPACG was formed in El Paso County through the cooperation of Colorado Springs city council and county commissiones and six towns in the Pikes Peak Region. Fifty per cent funding for the planning organization comes from the county and the other 50 per cent spread out between Colorado Springs and Manitou Springs, Monument, Woodland Park, Fountain, Palmer Lake and Green Mountain Falls.

Meehan said there's three main reasons for planning: meet events that will come of a planning and development nature in the area; accomplish things that the area wants to happen; and prevent those things it doesn't want to happen as far as planning and development are concerned.

"Councils of government," he said, "must apply intelligent foresight and use coordinated efforts that call for the total involvement of the citizens to formulate policies, principles and plans."

Significantly, he said, those planning processes must include workable solutions that affect future patterns of "social, economic, political and technological problems in everyday growth of an area."

Dowden, earlier in the day, pointed out that regional councils of government are based on the "voluntary cooperation and participation of the principal jurisdictions in an area, which combine for the purpose of identifying areawide problems and solving them."

Council of governments' activities, he said, are financed principally by local governments but there are many opportunities to take advantage of Federal grants to aid local and regional projects.

PPACG, for example, just this past week, got such a grant amounting to $23,000 for urban planning studies.

Dowden said that formation of a massive regional council of governments, "will reflect an approach that allows the local governments to expand and contract their functional and geographical interests as the occasion merits which insures continued growth and usefulness of the council."

Many of those in attendance complained aloud during a question and answer session that "it is so much trouble with so many governmental agencies trying to figure out which route to take in order to get the grants."

Dowden said that "with so much grantmanship (meaning that large organizations make a hobby of being first to get large Federal grants) it seems likely that an organization such as planned here would be in a position to better get at the Federal grants available." Much better, he said, that many of the smaller towns and counties with little or no expertise, trying to get the grants themselves.

Many agreed that that was one way of getting through "the government's proliferating alphabet soup." The latter was in reference to the Federal government's penchant for forming organizations whose initials are designed to form a word of one syllable, such as HUD, HEW, etc. HUD is the Housing and Urban Department and HEW is the Health, Education and Welfare Department of the Federal government.

Leading Lady Jockey Rejects Girl's Race

BALTIMORE (AP)—Barbara Rubin, the nation's leading female jockey, has rejected offers to ride in the $10,000 Lady Godiva Handicap, an all-girl stakes scheduled for Suffolk Downs on April 19.

"Barbara Jo has made a place for herself among all jockeys," trainer Bryan Webb, Miss Rubin's contract holder, said Thursday of the 19-year-old who has won 11 thoroughbred races.

"She has nothing to prove by riding against girls," Webb said. "She's out of that class and what would it prove if she won or if she lost?"

Webb said Bill Veeck, the new Suffolk president and former baseball entrepreneur, has made repeated calls to invite Barbara Jo.

"His offers kept getting better and the last time he called he asked, 'What do you want?'" Webb said.

Three Burglaries Are Reported

Three burglaries that were reported to Colorado Springs police Thursday are under investigation.

Darlene Ruth Hunter, 515 W. Bijou St., reported an engagement ring, wedding ring and $11 stolen from her home. Total value of the stolen items was about $261.

These items were valued at $120.

James Joseph McCaffery, 11 W. Boulder St., reported that a coin collection of minted coins not in circulation, a man's wrist watch, a pistol and a revolver were stolen.

The burglars entered the building by pushing a basement window open. Total value of the stolen items was $605.

Opponents of Safeguard Seek More Backing

By ROBERT T. GRAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate opponents of the Safeguard antimissile system today sought backing for their theory the Pentagon did not conduct a thorough review before recommending that it be built.

The disarmament subcommittee, heavy with Safeguard critics, called Dr. Wolfgang Panofsky, a Stanford University radar expert cited by Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard as one of the outside scientists consulted before he recommended that President Nixon go ahead with the ABM system.

Packard told the subcommittee Wednesday Panofsky was among those whose views were sought in drafting the deployment recommendation. But Panofsky said the conversation with Packard was casual, and he had "some serious engineering criticism" of Safeguard.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, a disarmament subcommittee member and chairman of the parent Foreign Relations Committee, has questioned whether the Pentagon's review of Safeguard was detailed encompassed all views or was superficial and assumed an ABM system would be deployed.

The continued assault on Safeguard comes a day after Secretary of State William P. Rogers told the full committee the system's critics shouldn't have the idea "this thing can't be turned off."

If expected arms control talks with the Soviet Union produce agreement to "get out of the defensive-missile business, we can get out of it very quickly," he said.

Rogers, appearing for his first policy review, said it was his impession the Soviet Union was building a first-strike capability but he would leave it to defense experts to analyze the intelligence on which they report that development as a certainty. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said last week it is certain.

No Safeguard sites have yet been built. The first positions will be near Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile in Montana and North Dakota.

Dear Maverick:

Your column of March 16th carried a letter from a woman who signed as "R. H.," in regard to her son who was a good boy but had run away since he was five. She further related that she had tried to get help, had sat for hours through hearings and conferences, and had begged for help from the Juvenile Probation Department but had received nothing.

This letter requires an answer, in that our Juvenile Probation Counselors stand ready at all times to help anyone who has a child that is a problem to them or has gotten into trouble. Our probation counselors help and counsel a great many of these people, sometimes just by recommending that the parents take the child to some other community-sponsored agency for help, guidance or counseling.

We cannot, of course, take any child out of a home environment or treat the child at public expense until the child is in trouble. We can and do aid people in solving these problems, and sometimes the only available aid is through institutions where the child may be taken care of by a private grant or a charitable foundation, if the parents cannot afford other help. The point is that the taxpayers cannot shoulder the burden of everyone who seeks help, and much of this must be done by the individual families concerned. But, I re-emphasize that our Juvenile Probation Counselors stand ready at all times to offer counseling and help to any family who has a problem with a child. Sometimes we do recommend that they take the child to another agency or try to get help in another place, for the reasons stated above. At no time is the Juvenile Probation Office door closed to any person with a problem about their child. Every one of our probation counselors is in probation work because he or she loves the work, enjoys helping and being with children, and is trained for the job.

I cannot overemphasize how important it is for people who do have a problem to come and get help immediately, even though it means that they must go someplace and pay for help, and that this help cannot be made available to them as a public service paid for by the taxpayers.

WILLIAM M. CALVERT
Chief Judge

How right you are!

Dear Maverick:

Awhile back I noticed where someone wrote about street signs. Well, I called both the American Builders and the City Street Department and got a run-a-round still NO street sign although our section is completed and all the other streets in this area are marked. It makes it very inconvenient for people who are strangers here. It is difficult to find an unmarked street. I'm about ready to change my address to Vehr Place as we live on a Cul-de-sac off Vehr Drive and it makes more sense to me.

A RESIDENT OF POPE PLACE

Don't know how these things happen, but every once in a while someone cannot seem to get a street sign. I agree it is INCONVENIENT and DIFFICULT to find an unmarked street. Sure hope that someone gets a street sign on POPE PLACE before you change the name and get everyone confused.

Dear Maverick:

I would like to have "A Nine Month School Teacher" send me the name and address of the firm, or firms, paying "common laborers" $13,000.00 a year for their work; so that my husband can go there to try and get a job paying like that. I would appreciate the information very much, as we could certainly up our standard of living a lot with a large income such as that.

My husband is a union carpenter and works steadily all year for the same firm, but he falls $5000.00 short of the $13,000.00 she says the common laborers she knows bring home by themselves. Even when I helped out by working in Civil Service, we were never lucky enough to earn such a large total. Just think how lucky we are not to have all the income tax to pay; but of course, we are not "professional people," just trained, highly skilled workers. My husband has to work all year around, with no paid vacation—if he is off work because of weather or other reasons over which he has no control, his check is short the time he missed. He is paid only the hours he works, and has all the tools he uses on the job—to buy at his own expense. He also works overtime on the job and does odd jobs weekends and some evenings in order to make that sum of around $8000.00—which is the most he has ever earned so far. However, we manage to live very comfortably on it and have the luxuries we most enjoy; with one child still in school. And still pay high taxes, while we send our child to Parochial school. By the way, our teachers have to do much more than public school teachers. They also teach Sunday School, Bible School in vacation time and have far less regular vacation than their public counterparts. And I have yet to hear one complain of it.

I always supposed teachers knew before they went in to the teaching profession, what was expected of them in the way of work and the time it would consume. Poor "Nine Month School Teacher"—she must be very discontented and unhappy in her choice of profession.

So, please, if you can, Maverick—send me the information on where my husband can go apply for a common laborers job where he can earn $13,000.00 a year. Thank you.

By the way, six years of teaching to be able to earn $7200.00 is a relatively short time to put in. My husband has been a union carpenter for the past twenty-six years and he doesn't earn $5.00 an hour yet, and doesn't even care.

Contented Housewife

We've had SEVERAL requests for this information but "Nine Month School Teacher" hasn't let us know as yet.

Issues of Major Importance Will Face Local Voters on Tuesday

By GARY SHUPP
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

Colorado Springs voters Tuesday will be called upon to decide issues of major importance to the city in regards to financing and to two amendments which, if passed, will alter the mechanics of local government.

Voters will also be given an opportunity to vote upon the continuance of a backyard burning ban until Jan. 1. After that date the question becomes moot as a state ban on burning will be in effect.

The question of continuation of the one per cent sales and use tax has received the most attention by voters.

If the tax is continued, the city will continue on a program of planned capital improvements, according to city officials. Should voters decide not to continue the revenue-producing measure, the city council will be faced with the necessity of re-evaluating all projects and revising the budget to conform to financial realities.

City officials have pointed out that more than 90 per cent of funds derived from the sales tax during the past year have been used for capital improvements, foremost of which have been drainage projects the city has postponed for many years because of a lack of funds.

Many of these drainage projects will take up to seven years to be completed if the sales tax is continued. There is a strong possibility that the projects will not be continued without passage of the tax as funds for their continuance will not be available.

City administrators have said the tax is mandatory if capital improvements are to continue at the present rate. All but one candidate seeking office, council candidate John Donovan, have come out in favor of the continuation of the tax.

Many local organizations including the Springs Area Beautiful Association, the League of Women Voters, the Colorado Springs Charter Association and Public Affairs Research have taken stands favoring the continuation of the sales tax.

Voters must also decide if they wish the city divided into election wards and if they wish the council term of office reduced from six to four years.

Both of these questions received study by the Charter Revision Committee appointed by the city council. The committee also studied the question of a residency requirement of five years before a candidate may seek council office and decided to leave that requirement unchanged.

The city council concurred and placed only the districting and term in office amendments on the ballot.

Proponents of shortening the council term in office say that this will make the council more responsive to the wishes of the people and may allow more candidates to seek office who cannot give six years to the government body.

Opponents of the measure claim that the present six years is a reasonable length of term and that only really dedicated candidates will seek office, thereby continuing the high quality of city government.

Council members and the mayor in Colorado Springs serve without pay.

The other controversial item to be considered by city voters is the question of districting. If the measure is passed Colorado Springs will be divided into four districts, on the basis of population as required by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The east-west dividing line will be at approximately Union Boulevard and the boundaries of the districts will have to be changed to conform with population changes before each election. The north-south boundary can be arranged in several different ways.

If the measure is passed four council members will be elected from districts by the voters of that district with the remaining five elected at large by the electorate of the city.

Opponents to the change contend that at-large election is the most democratic way of choosing candidates and that this method precludes the development of 'ward politics.'

Proponents of the change contend that at-large election is a recognized method of discriminating against minority candidates who have a much better chance of being elected from districts.

Other proponents also contend that the districting would make a more responsive council member and that paths of communication between the council member and his district would be improved.

DECISIONS — City voters will trip the proper levers Tuesday to elect three candidates and decide on four other items on the ballot. The choice of candidates will be from among the nine listed on the sample ballot. A light turn out is forecast for the election even though a record number of voters are registered.

Democrats Have Their Day in Legislature

By RAY BROUSSARD
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

Democrats finally had their day in the Legislature Thursday.

Prominently, they backed to the hilt a bill by Rep. Forrest Burns (D-Lamar) that would outlaw corporate farming. And they also backed a migrant labor bill that drew demonstrations Wednesday from Hispanos.

They also socked into the legislative debate-mechanism six bills they claim will aid "the common workers," and others that dealt with auto insurance, the poor people and elections.

Burn's bill is aimed, dead center, at abolishing corporate farming. Such corporate ventures, he said, destroy "the little farmer's initiative, competes him out of business, and generally is used as a tax dodge or for the accumulation of rights that have nothing to do with farming." Rural areas, he said, are threatened by the land purchases of conglomerate corporations.

Likely to be the first caught in the gale wind of the bill will be the Crowley Land and Development Co. The organization, with headquarters in Denver, has been seeking to purchase about 55,000 acres of what is considered poor farming ground in Crowley County. He has said his organization, heavily backed by eastern interests, will form a massive corporate farming venture.

But others in Crowley County feel that the organization, fornted by Keith Hartsell, really wants to acquire the land so that it can control Twin Lakes water.

At any rate, Burns' bill would do away with that, and force corporate interests to divest their stock by July 1 of this year.

This is the bill that prompted demonstrations by about 200 Chicanos at the State Capitol Wednesday. Police were heavily in attendance, but there were no physical outbreaks.

Laborwise, there were six bills, chiefly sponsored by Reps. Tom Farley of Pueblo and Hubert Safran of Denver, and Sen. Sam Taylor, Walsenburg.

Labor bills that found backing would:

—Allow a disabled worker to select his own physician.

—Reduce the number of employes required for coverage under workmen's comp from four to one.

Auto insurance bills would require insurance companies to give 30 days notice, written, on liability insurance cancellation and hike the uninsured motorists' coverage from $10,000 per person and $20,000 per accident to $25,000 and $50,000 respectively.

About $8 million would be appropriated to local schools for special programs for the disadvantaged.

The election bill would require county clerks to give lists of registered voters to each of the political parties and eliminate the 90-day residency requirement in order to vote on presidential and vice-presidential electors. It would substitute a 20-day precinct residency requirement.

The Colorado Springs Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People took a stand for the creation of eight districts in Colorado Springs with only the mayor elected at large.

The organization does not oppose the present districting proposal but contends it is merely a "stop-gap" measure and is an attempt to placate minority groups without really doing anything for them.

As well as these measures and the burning ban, the electorate will choose three new councilmen from the nine seeking office. All three incumbents, William H. Becker, Harold Hawks and Betty F. Krouse, are seeking another six-year term on the city governing body.

They are being opposed by Jay Cook, Kenneth I. Curtis, Donovan, John F. Narad, John S. Neel and Floyd W. Pettie.

Newsboy's Honesty to Get Reward

A Gazette Telegraph newsboy will receive a reward for returning a $1,600 check to its owner this week.

The newsboy, Jimmie Louis Lillie, 10, of 217 E. Victoria, found an envelope containing the check while delivering papers in the 100 block of East Vermijo Street.

The check belonged to Laurence C. Maxwell, Cascade, president of the Colorado Springs Wholesale Florist Inc.

Maxwell commented that "it was very thoughtful of the boy to be honest and return the check" and added that he would give a reward to Jimmie, who is a student at Lowell Grade School.

The boy's father is Willie G. Lillie, a staff sergeant in the Army currently serving in Thailand.

George W. Lawrence Services Saturday

Funeral services will be held in Canon City Saturday for George William Lawrence who died Wednesday at his residence at 72.

The Rev. and Claude Kinsley and Rev. Merle Rudnik will officiate at the 10:30 a.m. services in Holt-Wilson Chapel of the Garden. IOOF graveside services with full military honors will be at Mountain Valley Memory Gardens.

Surviving is his widow, Mrs. Lura Peterman Lawrence whom he married Feb. 12 1919 in Monroe County, Ohio.

Mr. Lawrence was born Sept. 17, 1896 in Cadiz, Ohio. He moved to Canon City 21 years ago from Cadiz.

He was a member of the United Methodist Church, IOOF Lodge 7, and of the Old Veteran's Club. He was a veteran of World War I.

He retired in 1964 after working as an accountant for automobile agencies in Canon City.

Also surviving are two children, Eugene Lawrence of Canon City and Nina Carter of Cadiz; a foster daughter, Mae Pollock of Columbia, Mo.; three grandchildren; four great-grandchildren, and a sister, Mary Steen of Rayland, Ohio.

Suspended Sentence Given Woman in Court

Rosina Chavez, 28, North Polk Street, no number listed, was sentenced Thursday by County Court Judge James F. Quine Jr. to 90 days suspended in county jail for assault and battery.

She was charged with attacking a Lynn Weiman, Feb. 27, by striking her in the face and pulling out her hair. The incident happened at 2727 N. Nevada Ave.

13 Drivers Are Fined Thursday

Juvenile Delinquency Is A Form of Insanity

By ANN SANGER
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

Juvenile delinquency is a form of insanity that everyone passes through at one time or another, a former juvenile judge said here Thursday.

Harold Lutz, attorney, Arvada, made his statement after patiently listening to the pros and cons of the effects of parks and recreation on juvenile delinquency during a panel discussion before members of the Colorado Parks and Recreation Society meeting at the Broadmoor Hotel.

His statement came after a veteran recreation man listening in the audience asked the panel why a group of youngsters will stand on a street corner and organize an act of vandalism three blocks distant when well-channeled activities are available in their own territory.

The subject under consideration was whether recreation has a part in deterring juvenile delinquency. Panel members with Lutz included Packey Romans, director of parks and recreation for Englewood; Jack Clasby, Englewood chief of police, and Rohn Herrick, counselor of Westminster School District 50.

The standard conclusions were drawn: The facilities of parks and organized recreation are needed and should be offered with supervision from qualified people. This done, juvenile delinquency may or may not be deterred.

Lutz was of the opinion that organized recreation is not always the answer, based on a past experience on the bench.

"One night," he said, "We brought in a group of youngsters caught with tables full of confiscated loot. These youngsters turned out to be the nucleus of our star basketball team. I promptly removed them from the team, figuring that the best punishment was to take away something they prized. I immediately heard from their coach and parents.

"In the process of organizing for sports, they had been removed from the home, run through practice sessions, and then turned loose on the town for whatever they could devise, in this case, organized theft."

Herrick earlier said, "A normal teenager is rebellious, independent, subject to peer group force, and tries to get away with all he can. A juvenile delinquent is similar but he gets caught."

Mr. Ernshaw Rites Will Be Held Saturday

Thomas M. Ernshaw formerly a Colorado Springs resident, died after a six months' illness in Akron, Ohio, at the age of 45.

Services will be Saturday at 11 a.m. in St. Lukes Mission in Bath, Ohio. Herald Dickin Funeral Home, Elyria, Ohio, is making the arrangements and burial will follow the services in Brooksdale Cemetery.

Mr. Ernshaw was an insurance broker with American General while in Colorado Springs.

He is survived by his widow, Barbara, one daughter, Mrs. Mark Eastwood, and two sons, Craig and Scott Ernshaw.

'Nice Dog' Is Found by Local Woman

As with many people, Mrs. Ruby Ray's problem is a lost dog, only in reverse.

She has not lost a dog, but has found one. Mrs. Ray said the medium size dog wandered into her yard Tuesday night. She said he is very friendly and is wearing a collar but has no license.

She described the dog as brown with white feet and white around the face and neck. He has a curly coat and floppy ears.

"He's such a nice dog," she said. "I know somebody misses him terribly."

Injury Suit Filed Thursday

A personal injury suit totaling $52,000 was filed in district court Thursday by Vance C. and Glenn E. Moulton, both of Denver against Maurice J. Christian, 502 E. Costilla St.

It is alleged that on March 15, 1966 on the 3000 block of West Colorado Ave., Christian carelessly and negligently drove his car into the rear of another vehicle being driven by Vance Moulton and in which Glenn Moulton was a passenger.

It is further alleged that Christian stopped abruptly causing the Moulton car to crash into the rear of his automobile. Glenn Moulton claims he suffered back and neck injuries and is requesting $50,000 while the second plaintiff states he received a back injury and is asking $2,000.

Walter P. Sydal Services Saturday

Private graveside rites will be held for Walter P. Sydal at 11 a.m. Saturday in Evergreen Cemetery. The Rev. Philip L. Green will officiate. Swan Funeral Home has charge of arrangements.

Mr. Sydal, 412 E. Cache la Poudre St., died Wednesday in a local hospital. He was born Sept. 5, 1883 in Winfield, Kan., and moved here in 1918. From that year until 1944, he owned and operated the Sydal Produce Co. He belonged to First United Methodist Church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Melle E. Sydal; a daughter, Mrs. Martha Parker of Colorado Springs; a brother and sister, Harry Sydal and Miss Ethel Sydal, both of Arkansas City, Kan.; three grandsons, Gerald R. Parker of Bartlesville, Okla., David L. Parker of this city, and Clifford Parker of Grand Junction, and two great-grandchildren.

When I was a young boy my grandmother often told me of when this country was lush and beautiful. The plains were covered with grass, "high as a horse's breast." Trees along the clean winding rivers were tall and thick, standing so close together they formed a wilderness that would shut out the sun. Even then, there were still large patches of this grass standing on the prairie, higher than my head, green, alive and wonderful . . . but no more.

Perhaps the reasons are best described in a clipping sent in by a friend, Howard Selden:

"Not long ago the editors of the Farmer-Stockman printed a picture of a deserted farmhouse in a desolate, sandswept field, then offered a prize for the best 100 word essay on the disastrous effects of land erosion. A bright Indian lad from Oklahoma bagged the trophy with this graphic description:

"Picture show white man crazy. Cut down trees. Make too big teepee. Plow hill. Water wash. Wind blow soil. Grass gone. Door gone. Squaw gone. Whole place gone to hell. No pig. No corn. No pony.

"Indian no plow land. Keep grass. Buffalo eat grass. Indian eat buffalo. Hide make plenty big teepee. Make mocassin. All time Indian eat. No work. No hitch-hike. No ask relief. No buld dam. No give dam. White man heap crazy."

Capt. Lee R. Cook Serving in Vietnam

Capt. Lee R. Cook, son of Mrs. Gladys Lucas, 1209 S. Nevada, helped turn an enemy base camp into a flaming holocaust during a recent air strike northeast of Bien Hoa AB, Vietnam.

Capt. Cook was a navigator on an AC-47 Dragonship crew that raked the compound with 7.62 mm minigun fire to touch off 21 explosions and engulf the complex in smoke and flying debris.

On night air patrol over the Saigon area,the captain and his crew were divereted to target in the early morning darkness when lights were sighted in the jungle 14 miles from Bien Hoa. The AC-47 strike cleared the way for an Army ground sweep through the area later that day.

Capt. Cook is a member of the 3rd Special Operations Squadron that flies the World War II vintage C-47 Skytrain in Vietnam as an attack aircraft, specially equipped with three Gatling-type six barrel guns that can be triggered simultaneously to fire 18,000 rounds a minute.

The captain, a graduate of Manitou Springs High School, received a B. S. degree in 1960 from Colorado State University, where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

JAILED

MADRID (AP) — The duchess of Medina Sidonia has started serving 12 months in jail for staging an illegal anti-American demonstration.

The demonstration was at Palomares, scene of a crash in 1966 by a U.S. bomber carrying nuclear bombs.

Fifth Infantry ROA to Meet On Monday

Fort Carson and 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) Reserve Officers Association affairs officers will meet for a noonday luncheon Monday at the Ft. Carson Officers Club.

Sponsored by Chapter 23, Reserve Officers Association, the meeting will feature progress reports on the current membership campaign from unit representatives.

In a letter to officers of his organization Col. Paul M. Ireland, commander of 5th Division's 2d Brigade, wrote:

"Your status and welfare as an active or associate member are championed at all times by ROA officials. . .in Washington, D. C., adjacent to the nation's capitol. . .

All ROA members and prospective new members are invited to attend the luncheon. Reservations may be made by calling 633-6644, Ext. 757 or 3126.

County Young GOP to Elect New Officers

The El Paso County Young Republicans will elect officers during its meeting 8 p.m. Monday at the Red Carpet, 999 N. Circle Drive. The public is invited to attend.

John Dawson, chairman of the nominating committee, reported that George Duncan is seeking the chairmanship of the organization.

Other candidates are: Erick Westling, first vice chairman; Julie Kuykendahl, second vice chairman, Patricia Odgen, secretary, and Vern Pfeifer, treasurer.

Beverly O'Neil, Jack Carter, Dawson, James Kelly and Mike Monderer have announced as candidates for directors to the YR state board.

Duncan, in announcing his candidacy for the chairmanship, said last week that he wanted the organization to become more involved in community service. In addition, he said he would expand the present political philosophy discussion group and the speak out program.

Retiring officers are: J. Braxton Carter, chairman; Duncan, first vice chairman; Mrs. Terry Hendricks, second vice chairman; Mrs. Jerry Grage, secretary, and Dawson, treasurer. Mrs. James Oxford served as corresponding secretary for the group.

Members of the State YR Executive board, who are schedule to retire are Mrs. Jody Alexis, Jim Collier, Robert Carvell, Terry Hendricks and Pfeifer.

ALLEN-GOLDSMITH REPORT

Robert S. Allen

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — With its bombastic anti-China propaganda, based on recent Sino-Soviet order clashes, the Kremlin is trying to give another black eye to Mao Tse-tung and check his soaring world ambitions.

That is the preliminary judgment of Kremlinologists here who have been carefully studying the recent border hostilities and their repercussions in Peking and Moscow. The experts are inclined to view the Kremlin propaganda as a part of Moscow's continuing attempts to downgrade Mao as a leader of world communism.

From the beginning it has been the propaganda that has engaged the experts here more than the border incidents themselves. Because of its scope and intensity, the propaganda has overshadowed the fighting as a matter of interest.

That is because animosities have ebbed and flowed for centuries along the Sino-Soviet border, but the publicizing of them by the two Communist giants with resulting massive demonstrations in both nations, is something new and different.

One theory is that Kremlin leaders, faced with hostilities of a size which could not be entirely hushed-up, simply decided to go the other way and stimulate public interest in the fighting — with appropriate commentary, of course, "Mao Tse-tung and his clique" as the instigators of it all.

That is the propaganda line taken by the Kremlin in material for home consumption and in broadcasts beamed at the China mainland. The same line has been taken by Moscow radio in propaganda broadcasts to other Asian nations including India and Japan.

Charging "premeditated provocation" by China, in a Japanese language broadcast, one Moscow commentator even asserted that Chinese Defense Minister Lin Piao was in Heilungkiang province, the Soviet-China border along the Ussuri River, several days before the first border clash.

NO QUIET TRANSITION — Lin Piao is an interesting target for current Moscow propaganda attacks, since he is generally assumed to be Mao's heir apparent. China experts here say Lin Piao is officially named as Mao's successor in a new constitution which is to go before the forthcoming Communist party congress.

Mao, now 75, is thought by the intelligence community here to be in poor health. He has, like his party associates, led a hard life. He is a chain smoker and is thought to have high blood pressure and the related ills of advancing years. China experts think it significant that Peking reports have been stressing the party chairman's blooming good health.

It is worth noting, however, that Lin Piao is also believed to be in poor health, frailer even than Mao. Like Mao, he is one of the party's old guard, and he spent several years of his life undergoing treatment in a sanitarium.

The age and health of China's rulers are important now. In the wake of Mao's ill-fated "great leap forward" of the late 1950s and the turmoil of the recent "cultural revolution," China experts here do not anticipate a quiet succession when Mao passes from the scene.

In stepping up their propaganda campaign, Kremlin leaders are assumed to have come to the same conclusion about a power transition in Red China.

"EMPERORS" AND "TSARS" — If further proof was needed of the worsening relations between Moscow and Peking, the recent propaganda warfare has provided it. In similar terms, the Communist leaders of the two nations are bitterly attacking one another.

In the war of words, Kremlin leaders have not hesitated to rattle their rockets and assert their superiority in any shooting war. A broadcast in Mandarin Chinese from Moscow radio belittles China's military strength and boasts of Russia's sophisticated weaponry.

"Thus, if Mao Tse-tung and his group were to meet the Soviet Union in a contest of strength they would certainly end up in utter defeat," Moscow radio says. It claims Mao has been using the border incidents to whip up support for his policies just like "the Chinese emperors of the past."

The line from Peking is much the same. People's Daily-Liberation Daily calls its editorial on the border fighting "Down with the New Tsars" and a booklet describing the incidents bears the same title. Focusing on the "revisionism" of Kremlin leaders, Peking attacks "the Soviet revisionist renegade clique."

ENCEPHALITIS

Encephalitis, also called sleeping sickness, is an inflammation of the brain often involving the spinal cord. Microorganisms of all types have been implicated, but viruses are the most common culprits. In many instances, the critter cannot be isolated, and the cause is presumptive. The virus responsible for cold sores (herpes simplex) is turning out to be a common offfender.

Encephalitis is not a common malady, but outbreaks have been reported in many parts of the country. The disease usually begins with fever, headache, drowsiness, and confusion. One in three tells of a minor respiratory or gastrointestinal infection prior to the attack. Many also have cold sores after the condition begins.

Mild infections may clear rapidly, but more severe involvement leads to deepening of drowsiness along with delirium, hallucinations, coma, and death. Some remain unconscious for weeks, explaining why the condition is sometimes called sleeping sickness. Stiffness of the neck and convulsions also take place.

Diagnosis is made by removing some of the spinal fluid for laboratory studies. X-rays and brain wave tests (electroencephalography) also confirm the diagnosis. There is no successful remedy for these viral infections. Corticosteroids are useful when started early; gamma globulin also may be helpful.

Encephalitis may complicate existing viral infections, such as measles, German measles, chicken pox, influenza, mumps, and infectious mononucleosis. There complications, however, are rarely serious.

Another form is carried by mosquitoes to birds, and vice versa. Smaller animals, horses, and humans are accidentally infected. This is a baffling variety of the disease, and more so because it is believed that snakes harbor the causative virus during the winter, and mosquitoes acquire the microbes in the spring by biting the snakes.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Teenage Decency Rally Catches Fire in Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The success of a teen-age decency rally in Miami, Fla. has sparked the imagination of young people and civic leaders around the nation. Plans are now being laid for similar gatherings in 11 other communities.

"The best thing that has happened in this country in a long time," said Baltimore Controller Hyman A. Pressman.

Baltimore's Department of Recreation and Parks, at Pressman's suggestion, has opened Memorial Stadium for a decency rally April 20.

"Youth groups will be invited to take the leadership and sponsor the rally," he said, "...an opportunity to show that the majority have a love for decency and the respect for morality which is the badge of proper upbringing in their homes."

A planning session for the rally will be held April 13.

Gov. Edgar D. Whitcomb said, "When youg people lead out with positive viewpoints about decency, adults take a new look at their own standards. These teen-agers have said what we have been thinking all the time, but they took the time to speak out. I commend them highly."

Dale Bookwater, 16, a leader of the Indianapolis movement, said,"We're tired of negative things. So are most young people. We just think it is time for a positive attitude about our city, our schools, our country, our parents. And we prefer decency in entertainment to some of the stuff offered us."

The Miami rally, which drew 30,000 people to the Orange Bowl Sunday, was organized after Jim Morrison, lead singer of the popular rock group, The Doors, was charged with indecent exposure during a March 1 Miami concert. Six warrents were issued for his arrest.

Mike Levesque, who organized the Miami rally, summed up what he stands for on his business cards: belief in God, love of our planet, love of family, reverence for on'e sexuality and racial equality.

In a letter of appreciation to Levesque, President Nixon said, "This very positive approach which focused attention on a number of problems confronting society strengthens my belief that the younger generation is our greatest natural resource hope for the future."

Levasque has been asked to organize teen-age rallies in Birmingham, Ala., Minneapolis, Minn. and Phoenix, Ariz.

In Austin, Tex., advertisements announced an "Upsurge for Decency" rally on April 7, backed by 25 civic, religious and educational organizations.

The Arkansas House of Representatives adopted a resolution calling on the War Memorial Stadium Commission in Little Rock to set a date for a "Rally for Decency." The legislators authorized the use of school vehicles to bus students to the rally from all over the state.

Charles Kight, a freshman at Tallahassee, Pla., Junior College, said plans are being made to hold a decency rally there.

"A "Teens for Decency" rally has been set for April 20 at the Cincinnati Gardens. The show is being backed by Frank Weikel, a columnist for The Cincinnati Enquirer, and Bob Braun, a local television personality. A concert by the Doors has been canceled by the local promoter.

"We want young people who like decent music to do it themselves," Braun said.

Some support for a decency rally has sprung up in New York, where John O'Mara, president of the uniformed Fire Officers Association, said, "I'm committing our organization and our members to it."

Sgt. Ronald E. Dusch Receives Bronze Star

Army Platoon Sgt. Ronald E. Dusch, son of Charles Dusch, Garden City, Mich., recently received the Bronze Star Medal in Vietnam.

SGT. Dusch received the award for heroism in action while engaged in ground operations against a hostile force in Vietnam.

He is a platoon sergeant in Co D, 2nd Bn. of the 25th Infantry Division's 12th Infantry.

Daughters Say Alamo Movie Is Mockery

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "Viva Max!" has won the second Battle of the Alamo, defeating the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, 6 to 2.

But the DRT president, Mrs. William Lawrence Scarborough of Corpus Christi, appeared ready to rally her forces in still another stand against the movie about a Mexican general who decides to retake the historic old mission.

Three lawyers conferred at length late Thursday with Mrs. Scarborough about possible court action to hold off the satirical movie, which stars Peter Ustinov, Pamela Tiffin and Jonathan Winters.

After two hours of testimony from both sides, city councilmen by a vote of 6 to 2 Thursday gave permission for the moviemakers to use city property fronting the Alamo to shoot scenes of the shrine.

The city owns the land up to the doors of the Alamo. The mission and its ground are in the custody of the Daughters.

Mrs. Scarborough told the council: "I come before you to plead with you and ask you not to permit this movie on the premises owned by you. We feel this movie is a mockery and a desecration of our heroes who died for our liberty there."

Good vision is a FAMILY AFFAIR at Franklin

We count with pride the many families who depend on Franklin Optical for prescription eyewear. We deem it a wonderful vote of confidence when parents who wear Franklin Optical glasses bring in their children. Then, sometimes, it happens the other way around and Junior or Sis become the initial "goodwill ambassadors." There are even memorable occasions when the whole family shows up together! However it happens, it gives us a good feeling when it does. We know how very important properly-fitted quality eyewear can be to a family's visual health and happiness. Nothing makes us prouder than to be counted "a friend of the family."

Keep Pipeline Open to God, Mayor Says

Mayor Eugene McCleary today told an overflow crowd at the annual Mayor's Prayer Breakfast to "keep the pipeline open to God."

He and pro football star Don Cockroft addressed the group on the importance of prayer in modern society.

The mayor said, "It seems to me that there is a rebirth for a need of prayer." He said there was a need for prayer in every part of the country.

"We have strayed and the whole world has strayed away from God," he said. "As long as man tries to answer life's problems from his tiny store of knowledge, he will surely fail."

Mayor McCleary said people shouldn't restrict prayers to emergencies, but rather "keep the pipeline open."

The people could pray for leaders of government, for peace and the men in Vietnam, and for a Christian America and Colorado Springs, he said.

Cockroft, kicker for the Cleveland Browns and a native of Colorado, then discussed the importance of prayer in professional football.

He said the entire Cleveland Browns football team recites The Lord's Prayer and says a silent prayer before going onto the field for a football game.

No matter how tight the schedule was, he said, the squad always took time out for the prayer.

Cockroft said playing football on Sunday at first bothered him, because he was taught that Sunday was a day of rest.

However, through prayer he discovered that Christ could use him more as a professional football player than in another capacity.

"I feel that Christ gave me the ability to kick, and if I don't live up to this, I will be slighting him and myself," he said. "I want to be the best kicker in pro football, but I want it primarily to glorify him."

Cockroft said prayer had a very real affect on his climb from a rookie to a starter with the football squad. He said a number of times prayer helped him when he was disappointed with his progress.

He referred to God as the greatest of all coaches, and added, "God is even the coach over Vince Lombardi, even though some people don't think so. They say he (Lombardi) is walking on water all the way to Washington."

Congressional War Critics Hold Meeting

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen displeased with American military policy opened a critics' conference today aimed at arousing public opposition to growing arms spending and spurring Congress to a more active role in national defense.

Fourteen senators and 38 representatives, all but one of them Democrats, began the closed two-day study featuring a dozen leading scientists and scholars who will discuss the military budget and its impact on domestic goals.

"We believe Congress has not shown sufficient sensitivity to these issues and to the public's anxieties about them," Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, one of the organizers, said in prepared remarks.

The New York Democrat said the meeting resulted from a growing concern among members of Congress over the amount of defense spending and its domestic effect.

"We meet here as committed public officials and as representatives of a troubled people," he said.

He said he hopes the meeting will dramatize the issues of defense spending, the arms race, the continuation of the war in Vietnam and the apparent lack of control over the military budget.

Arthur Larson, a presidential adviser to Dwight D. Eisenhower, will serve as chairman of the conference and sum up its conclusions at a news conference Saturday.

A report will be issued for distribution to national citizens' groups and other members of Congress.

TRAVEL WRITER ROSTER

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 1969 roster of the Society of American Travel Writers (SATW) is now available to the public. The roster lists the 550 members of the organization of writers and others whose main interests are connected with travel. The roster sells for $7.50 and can be obtained by writing to Mrs. Isabel Clarke, SATW Administrative Secretary, Room 641, National Geographic Building, Washington, D.C. 20036.

GOLFING TOURS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eastern Airlines' Jack Nicklaus golfing holiday plan offers 13 exclusive new golf packages to Florida, the Bahama, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Jamaica. The tours begin as low as $123 for seven days and six nights, per person double occupancy, with a top price of $300, plus fare.

Chromosome Issue Did Not Help Him

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man who contended he was not responsible for his actions because of an extra male chromosome in his genetic makeup was sentenced Thursday to a 1-to-14-year prison term for the beating and rape of a housewife.

In sentencing Raymond Stewart Tanner, 33, Judge Maurice T. Leader ruled that relationships between an extra "Y" chromosome and behavior haven't been established. A normal male has an XY chromosome count.

Leader recommended that Tanner be assigned to Atascadero State Hospital, rather than a prison. Doctors at that hospital are studying the "Y" factor to determine if there is a relationship between genetic makeup and commission of violent crimes.

Tanner said he would appeal.

Nixon Agreement May Speed Peace Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's declared readiness to negotiate simultaneously on military and political settlements in Vietnam may result in speeding up agreement on secret peace talks in Paris.

Officials familiar with the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong approach to the negotiations say they place higher priority on the political future of South Vietnam than agreement on a mutual withdrawal of their own troops and those of the U.S. and its allies.

While the Nixon administration's emphasis recently has been on the need for negotiation of troop withdrawal, Secretary of State William P. Rogers told a Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday:

"I think it is in the interest of everyone to work out a settlement of both a military nature and a political nature, and I would hope these could be discussed at the same time—either in parallel bilateral talks or in some other fashion."

Rogers thus envisioned the possibility of two sets of discussions going on side by side:—Between the United States and North Vietnam. These would be concerned primarily with working out an agreement for reduction and ultimate removal of all foreign troops from the South. —Between the Viet Cong-National Liberation Front and Saigon. These would deal with the political future of the country.

Rogers made it clear, however, the United States would accept some different arrangement for secret negotiations if the Communists prefer.

He carefully avoided telling the senators whether secret negotiations have in fact started, or are about to. He argued the administration's no-information policy must cover not only what goes on in private discussions in Paris but also whether private meetings are even being held.

According to the best information available from other sources, the situation is this: U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators in Paris have been exploring quietly the problem of starting secret negotiations on substantive issues of peace and have made some progress toward an understanding.

Nixon administration officials also have been in contact with the Soviet government on this project and believe Russian influence is being used to get the negotiations started.

The details of what is happening remain a mystery, one that is particularly puzzling because, in part, administration leaders talk so much about it.

President Nixon has argued the case for secrecy in news conferences and speeches in recent weeks, and Rogers stressed it in his appearance before the Foreign Relations Committee.

The talk about secrecy, however, has also been coupled with assurances from both Nixon and Rogers that the administration is doing everything possible to bring about a negotiated settlement.

A ranking State Department official told newsmen Wednesday that in the past private discussions with the North Vietnamese negotiators had been essential to some of the negotiations.

The official, who cannot be identified under the rules of the meeting, said the enemy had stated they would break off the discussions if secrecy were violated.

Currently, reports that secret talks were actually under way have been cropping up for weeks, both here and in Paris.

A responsible congressional official said Thursday that signficnt progress was being made in private discussions outside Paris toward an agreement on starting serious negotiations.

However, other qualified officials said that apart from contact with Moscow the only work being done along these lines was in Paris.

Rogers himself implied that the private negotiations which the President and he have been seeking have not yet begun. He told the Senate committee that "It is our fervent hope that the other side will soon put politics aside and begin in good faith to negotiate an end to this tragic war."

Everything Went Wrong for Robber

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A man entered the uptown branch of Commerce Union Bank, pulled a pistol on a teller Thursday and demanded the $100 bills. Then things went awry for him.

The teller told him the best she could do was $5s, $10s and $20s, so he took them and fled.

—One of the packets wasn't currency at all, but a boobytrap disguised as a stack of $5s.

—It exploded, burning him and splashing a special red dye and tear gas on him as he hurried down a busy street.

—He hailed a cab, only to be put out after a short distance when the cabbie had an attack of sneezing and watering eyes.

Police said they arrested a man identified as William Bailey, about 45, of Belleville, Ill., and charged him in the case.

Wilson to Lose Next Election, Observers Say

By RONALD THOMSON

LONDON (AP) — After a stunning electoral defeat Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government appeared to most political commentators today to be destined to lose the next general election no matter what it does.

Thursday's rout, in which Conservatives swept three special parliamentary elections, gave the Labor party the longest run of special election defeats of any party in the 20th century.

More immediately serious for Wilson was an open challenge to his policies from Home Secretary James Callaghan, one of the party's big five. He came out against government proposals for trade union reform, including a strike vote and a 28-day cooling-off period before major strikes, and compulsory arbitration in interunion disputes.

In the voting Thursday, the Conservatives captured one London seat previously held by a Laborite and retained two others in the traditionally Tory seaside resorts of Brighton and Weston-Super-Mare. The setback left Labor with a 71-seat majority in the 630-member House of Commons, still a safe margin but 27 less than it had after the last national election three years ago.

The news was radioed to the prime minister in Lagos, where he is holding talks with Nigerian leaders.

Labor party officials in London pointed out that Wilson doesn't have to call a general election until the end of his five-year term in 1971. By that time, they predicted, the government's unpopular austerity programs will have borne fruit and Labor supporters will return to the fold.

But few others seemed to share that view. All signs indicate a massive rift between the party and the people who voted it into office in 1964 and again in 1966.

In East London's Walthamstow district, the Conservatives converted a Labor edge of 1,807 in the last election into a Tory margin of 5,479.

That was a swing to the Conservatives of 16 per cent, and Quinton Hogg, a member of the Conservative high command, said he calculated a 16 per cent swing in a general election would give his party a majority of 386 in Commons.

"That would be quite enough to govern the country on," he added.

Historic Shrines to Be Open Seven Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — Popular historic shrines in the capital will return to seven-days-a-week operation starting next Monday, the National Park Service said today.

The sites have been closed on Mondays and Tuesdays since December, because of money and manpower cuts Congress imposed last year.

The park service said the change affects the Washington Monument, Jefferson Memorial, Custis-Lee Mansion, Kenilworth Aquatic Gardens, Theodore Roosevelt Island, Ft. Washington, picnic areas along the George Washington Memorial Parkway, and the Nature Center and Oak Ridge Campground at Prince William Forest Park at Triangle, Va.

MASTER MAGICIAN — Don Keller, above, will be performing his art at May D&F's annual Easter Party for children of all ages Saturday. The party, which starts at 12:30 p.m. at the firm's Chase Stone Center store downtown, will be completed with an Easter bunny giving away eggs to young members in the audience. Keller, who has appeared eight times at Santa's Workshop near Colorado Springs, will present performances at both 12:30 and 1:30 p.m.

Casinos Frankly Aiming For 'Older Generation'

By MIKE DOAN

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The miniskirts and new cars would tell you it was 1969. But in Las Vegas showrooms this week the music had the sound of the 1940s. The casinos were aiming frankly for the older crowd.

From Guy Lombardo at the south end of the Strip to Fred Waring downtown, nostalgia—seeking tourists turned back the clock to hear "All of Me," "A Cottage for Sale." and "It's a Lonesome Old Town."

And hotels were booking such names as Lionel Hampton, Woody Herman, Orrin Tucker and Freddy Martin.

"A younger entertainer might draw a larger audience," said Tropicana executive Harvey Diederich. "But I think Lombardo brings in an audience with more money."

The young crowd doesn't spend as much as people think, Diederich said, and their parents are likely to gamble more. The Tropicana also has "young acts," as do the others.

While Lombardo plays the same music he did 30 years ago, Harry James plays newer numbers such as "Hey Jude" at the Frontier. But many of his songs were composed before most of his band was born.

Waring, appearing at the Fremont, says popular music got "pretty far out for a while" but that new writers are "settling down to writing about people, they're writing folk. Some of it's simply great."

"No matter how far out music may get, there'll always be a 'Stardust,'" he added. "And give me an active oldster to a tired teen-ager any day."

SILLY

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Dr. Linus Pauling, who won Nobel prizes for chemistry in 1954 and peace in 1962, thinks it is "a silly idea' for the United States to launch construction of an antiballistic missile defense system.

In a speech to students at Dickinson College Thursday, Pauling declared: "If we put in a small system, Russia could easily increase its power of attack sufficiently to overcome our system . . . I believe the President has his priorities wrong."

May Be Better This Way, Says Humphrey

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says he wouldn't have been given the chance to prove himself that Richard M. Nixon has received in the presidency.

"It may be good for the country that it (the election) ended this way. It may be better this way," Humphrey said in a copyright interview published Thursday in the University of Minnesota Daily.

"I doubt that I would have had the time Mr. Nixon has had to prepare myself in office," the 1968 Democratic Presidential candidate said. "I would have been viewed as a continuation of the old policies." Humphrey commented on some of the current issues to Glenn Hovemann and Doug Stone, staffers on the student newspaper. Humphrey began teaching at the school this week.

The vice president-turned-professor said that he would not have gone ahead with the anti-ballistic missile system which Nixon has proposed. "I thought Nixon would make the ABM a great moral issue say we don't need it," Humphrey said.

He told the Daily that having a little bit of ABM is like "being a little bit pregnant. I don't believe we need it because we have a margin of safety with the offensive intercontinental ballistic missiles."

The Daily quoted Humphrey as saying he would have still won the nomination if Sen. Robert F. Kennedy had not been assassinated. "Kennedy would have got in there and pitched for us."

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Lorna's problem is common among teen-agers on dates. It humiliates her until she has begun to avoid boy friends. Never let any organ of your body thus make you its slave. You can retrain both your urinary bladder as well as your stomach, so follow the medical prescription below.

CASE J-553: Lorna B., aged 17, is embarrassed.

"Dr. Crane," she sighed, "I am so humiliated that I have quit accepting dates.

"For when I go out to dinner and the movies with a boy friend, I must have weak kidneys.

"Two or three times during the show I am forced to excuse myself while I go to the powder room.

"In fact, I am getting a complex over this situation, so can you suggest a remedy?"

KIDNEY BLACKMAIL

Never let any of your bodily organs blackmail you in this manner!

Make your brain the Captain and thereafter always refuse to let any emotion or organ try to revolt against that Captain.

And it results from several simple medical facts.

For example, on a date, the usual young couple are giddy and gay, being keyed up excessively.

That means their hearts are beating faster and their blood pressure has jumped maybe 10 to 20 points.

Both of these mechanical results thus force additional blood through the kidneys, which then filter out an excessive amount of fluid and send it down to the urinary bladder.

What complicates the situation even more, is the fact that under the general excitement of the date, the young couple may drink several glasses of water during their dinner.

Since the waterglass is convenient, they keep reaching for it and sipping liquids excessively.

Then they may take coffee, tea or a cola beverage.

So make it a r u l e to dehydrate yourself after 4 p.m. on the day you have an evening date.

This means you should go slow on all liquids at mealtime and thereafter, but use candy mints to prevent halitosis, for dehydration often causes bad breath.

Another desirable method to remedy this frequent recourse to the bathroom, is to train your bladder in advance to hold a much larger amount of liquid before it demands to be emptied.

For example, jittery, neurotic folks often focus on their "innards" too much, including their bladder.

So they become hypersensitive to its demands.

As a result, their bladder develops the bad habit of wanting to be emptied when it holds only 3 or 4 ounces of fluid.

Indeed, men with enlarged prostate glands may have bladders that stretch till they hold 8 or 10 full glasses of fluid!

But the bladder, like the skinny person's stomach, may develop the habit of registering "Full" on 4 ounces.

So drink excessively when you aren't on a date and then grit your teeth till you force y o u r urinary bladder to let out a notch.

It dislikes doing so, but if you win the battle, it may then relax and double its capacity before again demanding to be emptied.

Crewman Rescued After Four Days

PYLOS, Greece (AP) — "Where am I?" asked Sebahattin Ozen as he wriggled through a hole into the sunshine after being towed for nearly four days while trapped in the hold of his overturned ship.

Ozen, 28, was rescued by Greek royal navy frogmen Thursday from the hold underwater of the capsized Turkish motorship Aycan. He was drenched in oil.

He is the only one of the vessel's 19 crewmen known to have survived. The Aycan rolled over in a Mediterranean storm off Pylos Monday during a voyage from Turkey to Italy.

Ozen was taken to a clinic.

The entire crew was believed to have been lost, but when the 1,300-ton wreck was towed into port by a Danish ship, port authorities heard banging on the hull and sent to Athens for the frogmen. They cut a hole in the hull and found Ozen and the bodies of three other crewmen.

Nude Swimming Is Demanded by Group 2

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A California group, Sexual Freedom League Inc., issued a call Thursday for a mass skinny-dip at high noon on Easter Sunday "to establish the right of nude swimming at public beaches."

The league called the nude-in to coincide with the annual Easter vacation invasion of Fort Lauderdale by fun-seeking collegiates. An estimated 12,000 college-age revelers already are in Fort Lauderdale and thousands more are expected.

The 560-member league called for students to disrobe "and wade naked into the Atlantic," but add: "No funds are available for bail or legal defense in Florida."

Clergymen Give Priest Support In Race Issue

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) — A group of clergymen expressed dissatisfaction today with official tolerance of a white "emergency" force accused by a young Roman Catholic priest of intimidating Negroes.

The clergymen, who came to this Ohio River town to lend their moral support to the priest, Father Gerald Montroy, 29, met Thursday with state's Atty. Peyton Berbling and Sheriff Chestley Willis.

The Rev. Blaine Ramsey of Peoria, who was at the conference, said the state's attorney assured those present that the white organization, known as the White Hats, was "not a group of vigilantes."

"The state's attorney told us it was organized to act in cases of emergency," he said. "We hope nothing of an emergency nature will break out in terror."

The Rev. Stanley Roth of East St. Louis, a Catholic priest and spokesman for a group called "Concerned Clergy," said they were upset by views expressed by Willis about the White Hats.

"We are disturbed by the fact the sheriff does not view the existence of this group as intimidating or oppressive to any segment of the community," Father Roth said.

Father Montroy, a white who has been at odds with part of the white community on racial problems, did not attend the meeting.

"It would be fruitless for me to meet with them at the preent time because of racism in the community," Father Montroy told newsmen. "It's been impossible for me to make any inroads with the white community."

He said he had been frustrated in efforts to find more employment for Negroes and to improve housing and recreational facilities.

About 40 per cent of Cairo's population, estimated at 8,000 to 8,400, are Negroes.

Father Montroy has been in Cairo since August 1968. He was ordained four years ago and has spent that entire period working with Negroes, chiefly in the East St. Louis area.

Blue Ribbon Board Formed by Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has formed a blue ribbon advisory panel of businessmen, educators and former military men to report by next November on the best way to abolish the draft.

Nixon announced formation of the committee Thursday and named Thomas Gates, secretary of defense under Dwight D. Eisenhower and now chairman of the executive committee of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., to head it.

"The committee," he said, "will study a broad range of possibilities for increasing the supply of volunteers for service, including increased pay, benefits, recruitment incentives and other practicable measures to make military careers more attractive to young men."

For the President, creation of the committee was another step aimed at redeeming a campaign pledged to do away with the draft. He directed the Pentagon last month to draft recommendations for moving toward a volunteer army.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:

You've sent hundreds of letters in answer to the question of whether or not to put coffee grounds in the kitchen sink.

I throw in the towel. (This is a saying which means Dog-gone, I completely give UP!) There just doesn't seem to be a definite answer . . .

Plumbers and their WIVES have written from all over and are about evenly divided on the subject!

About fifty per cent say to throw them down the sink and the other fifty per cent say NEVER!

All, however, seem to agree that if you do put coffee grounds in the sink, be sure to run lots of hot water afterwards.

Even a few of the plumbers who are gardening enthusiasts suggest that we not waste our coffee grounds by pouring them down the kitchen drain, but to save them and use 'em on the lawns and shrubs!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I buy postage stamps, before putting them in my purse, I take hold of the stamps and run the side with the glue across my hair.

Hattie Crouch

Dear Heloise:

I've just found out the secret of how my son can do the heavy, once-a-week grocery shopping in about half the time it takes me.

During the week I make a rough list of what is needed and on Saturday morning we add to the list from the following week's menu.

Last Saturday morning while he was rewriting the list, I thought of something else that was running low and said, "Oh, I forgot, we'll need coffee, too." He replied, "You're too late, I'm already in the middle of the market."

Then it dawned on me that he knows the complete layout of the store and rewrites his list accordingly.

He never has to back-track as I so often have to do.

Now, we gals should probably follow his example and do our own shopping in half the time next trip.

Don't you think so?

Mrs. F. D.

Sure do, Lollypop.

But can anyone figure out a way we can make out our grocery list without forgetting anything?

If so, do write to me in care of this paper. Would love to hear from you.

Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

On a recent trip to our weekend cottage, Mom drove down early with all of us kids and the baggage. Dad was to follow later.

Well, we had a flat tire on one of the rear wheels. Mom pulled to the side of the road and prepared to fix the tire.

But our Mom is always equal to any situation.

She took the frozen leg of lamb that was to be our dinner the next evening, wrapped it in an old towel and placed it on the pavement alongside the flat tire.

Then she drove the car onto it. It raised the wheel just enough, and we were soon on our way.

Don't we have one smart Mom?

The Children

Dear Heloise:

In our sick room, we always use a fish bowl turned over our noisy, ticking clock.

It will silence the clock and yet still show the time.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association says that the amount of surface a gallon of paint will cover varies with the character of the surface. More paint will be required for porous wood than for wood that is dense and less weathered. Unpainted plaster or wallboard will require more paint than previously painted walls. You also will find that the coverage increases as the number of coats applied increases.

Steamy windows can mean there's too much water vapor in the house. To reduce the moisture, see that the furnace and other heating appliances are vented properly.

NAACP Presents Your Own Thing Fashion Show

"Your Own Thing Fashion Show" will be presented by the NAACP Freedom Fund Committee. The show will begin at 4:30 p. m., Saturday in the Crystal Room of the Alamo Hotel.

Fashions from the May D&F store will be followed by African and foreign fashions. Those attending the show are invited to wear their own thing so there will be fashions of great interest in the audience as well as on stage.

Mrs. Edward Colbert, Freedom Fund Committee chairman said "The Soulful Four Dancers" will present a dance featuring Kweku Sago from Nigeria who now attends Colorado College. The Mary Lois Dancers from Denver will present an African dance in keeping with the show theme "Your Own Thing."

Dwight Lowe will sing accompanied by Miss Carol Ann Griffin. Music throughout the fashion time will be supplied by Mrs. Ernestine McCleary at the piano.

Donation is $1.50 per person and tickets may be secured from members of the committee or at Todd's Shoe Repair Service, 124 N. Weber St. Tickets may be purchased at the door, but space is limited so make arrangements early.

Nine tables were in play at Ft. Carson Tuesday night. North-South winners were Mrs. W. E. Giesenhagen and Mrs. P. Barnett, with Mrs. Hugh Shewmaker and Frank Harve, second and Mrs. J. Campbell and Mrs. H. Hilbert, third.

East-West: Mr. and Mrs. J. Hamilton were, first, with M.E. Meier and Mrs. M. Frey, second, and Mrs. Leroy Leiker and Mrs. M. E. Meier, third.

A Mitchell movement was used for the game which was played in the Chuck Wagon room of the Ft Carson Officers' Open Mess. First place received 54 rating points, with total award of 3.96 master points to the players listed.

The current series will end with the game of April 1. Present leader is Mrs. Giesenhagen with an average of 56.209 percent, and Mrs. J. A. Kiovsky, second, with 54.341 percent, Jan Janitschke 54.333 percent third, Mrs. Barnett, 53.542 percent, fourth, and Mrs. Carl Meador 53.412 percent, fifth.

Several other players can qualify on April 1, and those listed can improve their average with one more good round.

The April novice game will be played at 1:30 p. m., April 6, and an unlimited team of four game will be played at the same time. The play of novice games on successive weekends was arranged to avoid conflict with Unit activities. For information or partnerships, call Mrs. J. K. Spiers, 633-0235.

EARLY CONCEPTS OFTEN INCORRECT

The bidding of today's hand would be reasonable by modern standards. Perhaps North would jump to six clubs or try Blackwood but the six-club contract would be reached as it was by both sides in a 1930 team game after identical bidding.

One declarer received a diamond opening and had no trouble making seven because he trump-finessed both the ace and queen of diamonds with no difficulty.

A spade was opened at the other table and that South player tried to make his contract by attacking hearts. The bad heart break led to his defeat because West played low on the third heart and East overruffed dummy.

The 1930 analysis was interesting but incorrect. It was that South should have attacked diamonds since he would make his contract is East held one of the two diamond honors. That was a 75 per cent chance and a pretty good one but it was not as good as the actual play and our sympathy goes out to the unfortunate player who went after the hearts.

His line of play was going to work against any 4-3 break in hearts. This was a 62 per cent chance as a starter. Then if hearts broke 5-2 he would still make it unless both the king and jack were going to show up in the long hand. This represented an extra 16 per cent chance for a total of 78 per cent. In addition, he might make it against certain 6-1 breaks.

Of course, we have not considered what would happen if clubs broke 4-0, since either line of play might well fail against that eventuality. All we want to point out is that this was one hand where either line deserved success, with the attack in hearts being slightly better.

Zeta Chapter Will Hear Harry M. Smith

Alpha Zeta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa will hold their monthly meeting Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the homeof Mrs. Douglas W. Robinson, 2117 Monteagle Drive.

Mrs. Gary Bell will be co-hostess.

Lt. Col. Harry M. Smith, world history instructor at Palmer High School, will speak on his travels in Russia. He visited Russia during the Christmas holidays.

The Alpha Zeta Chapter had an interesting meeting in February. Mrs. Florene Burton and Miss Jo Schram were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Alva Walter gave a talk on the art of making and costuming Japanese dolls.

With the assistance of Mrs. Martha Lake, they also demonstrated Origami, the art of paper folding.

From their cradle days I have told my children that no subject is verboten here. There is nothing, nothing you cannot ask, I have assured them. And, if mother does not know the answer, I add in my humble way, a quick march to the bookcase, a call to the librarian, a visit to friends at the University will give us answers.

Therefore, when Stu was building up one of his current events folders for a seventh grade social studies class, I was not surprised when he came to me.

"I have a good collection of pictures and articles about President Nixon's European tour," he said. "In one picture the sign says Secteur Americain. Does this mean the American sector?"

"Yes," I said. "The picture was taken in Berlin."

"Is that the part of Berlin we kept after the Second World War?" my eight-year-old asked.

"Of course not, Tad," I explained. "We didn't KEEP it."

"Then why is it called the American sector?" he asked.

"Well, it was sort of divided up," I explained, "there was the Russian sector and. . ."

"The Russians are on the other side of the Berlin Wall." he said. "And they are our enemies, right? And they are our friends."

"I saw this movie on TV," Tad insisted, "and the Russian soldiers were our friends and the Germans were the enemy."

"Don't be dull" Stu told him. "Now the Russians are the enemy and the Germans are our friends."

"I saw President Nixon on TV with the Germans," Tad agreed. "But there was a movie right after where we were killing them!"

"Don't you understand ANYTHING?" Stu asked. "That was a long time ago. . .when they were the enemy." He sighed patiently. "Now Russia is the enemy because they want to spread communism around the world. And so do the Chinese, although I read a book called 'Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo' and THEN the Chinese were our friends and helped our pilots get away from the Japanese."

"I saw a movie on TV with the Japanese soldiers killing our soliers," Tad said. "They sure are the enemy!"

"Honestly!" Stu shouted. "That was a long time ago. NOW the Japanese are our friends and the Chinese are our enemies."

"You read a lot," Tad said. "Are the British and the French our friends?"

"The British are ALWAYS our friends," I said.

"I read Exodus," Stu said, "and I must say they weren't very friendly to Israel."

"We are ALL friends," I insisted.

"Well," Stu asked, "Would you mind looking at this picture of President Nixon in Italy?"

"Boy, I saw a movie about THEM!" Tad cried. "They are the enemy! And I saw this movie with the French underground helping the British Tommies and. . ."

"I have this terrible headache," I pleaded.

DREAMS AND ANGINA

NEW YORK (UPI)—In heart patients, dreams appear to increase the risk of attacks of angina pectoris, according to a report ot the American Heart Association.

Researchers at the University of Florida in Gainesville found major changes in heart rate and blood pressure and increased susceptibility to attacks of the chest pains in persons during the rapid eye movement period of sleep. This period is believed to coincide with the dream stage of sleeping.

SPECIAL TOMATO SOUP

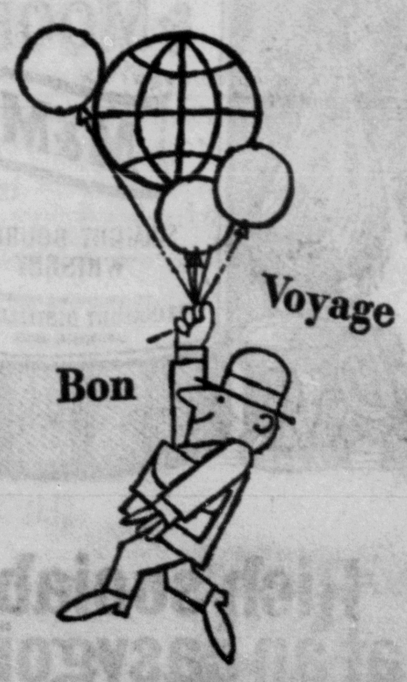

1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed cheddar cheese soup
Milk
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 can (7 ounces) whole-kernel corn, drained
¼ cup minced parsley
1 to 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Into a medium saucepan turn cheddar cheese soup; fill can with milk and gradually stir in. Add tomato soup; fill can with milk and add with remaining ingredients. SLOWLY HEAT TO BOILING, STIRRING OCCASIONALLY. Makes 6 servings.

An interesting way to prepare a tomato aspic: Pour a thin layer of the tomato gelatin mixture into a mold and allow to set. Add a layer of cottage cheese mixed with minced chives and then pour on the rest of the tomato gelatin mixture. Chill until set. Unmold before serving and garnish with salad greens and pimiento-stuffed olives.

When cleaning pewter pieces, use a solution of salt and vinegar — about half and half.

Crowning Glories Of Java Women Boost Wig Boom

They believe that long hair adds to their feminine charms, whether their hair streams down their back or is tied in the traditional konde (an artful knot).

But new fashions and budget problems at home are causing more and more women to lose their long locks.

New styles in dress and hair account for some of the loss. But the main reason Java women are cutting their hair is because the sale of human hair for wigs has become a lucrative business.

Long, black, silky hair brings as much as $10 per kilogram (2.2 pounds) on the spot market in Jakarta.

The demand for hair is so great that robbers armed with scissors have cut tresses from women in packed buses or walking along crowded Jakarta streets.

Java's exports of human hair to Hong Kong average $500,000 per month, ranking Indonesia first in the market after Communist China.

New Cosmetics Are for Women Who Love Life

Love Cosmetics are for the woman in love with the natural look. She's probably between 18 and 26 although attitude is really the most important factor.

She is intelligent, informed, not afraid to be herself. She is where the action is or she is creating it. She is straight forward, natural. If she has freckles she doesn't mind if they sometimes shine through — she knows the value of the healthy, natural look!

Created by Menley & James they speak her language because they are tuned in on her needs and wants. They are new, new new — not old formulas in new packages. These cosmetics don't camouflage, they enhance and they deliver what they promise.

They are for the woman who loves life and loves to live it! She doesn't have time for the complicated, austere department store cosmetics scene — she has places to go and things to do. She shops her drugstore for oodles of reasons and products, too, including cosmetics. That's where she finds them and the honest kind of make-up she wants.

Packaging is gay, bright, colorful, full of enchanting design. Each has a love note from Menley & James — the kind of message women understand and enjoy. Quite frankly, they're groovy!

* * *

THE LOOK OF LOVE—The young contemporary prefers a natural look to camouflage or a mask. Marne Davis, who studied in France and Italy, exemplifies this look. She is presently working in the international department of King Resources, Denver. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Davis III, president of Davis Brothers, Inc.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"Slow" Grandpa Gets . . .

DEAR ABBY: My sympathy to Grandpa, who complained because it took him so long to eat he couldn't carry on a dinner table conversation with the others.

There is nothing that will drive a man to distraction quicker than ill-fitting dentures. Sending him back to his dentist won't help. What Grandpa needs is a supply of thermaplastic material that will enable him to eat like a horse and talk as much as Hubert Humphrey at the same time.

TOOTHLESS BUT HAPPY

DEAR ABBY: Clinical tests have proven that patients lose approximately 75 per cent of their chewing ability when they get false teeth.

For every person who says his dentures are "like his own teeth" there are 100 who wish they had their own teeth back.

Dentists do not like to see their patients lose their natural teeth, but there is usually no choice. Patients, after neglecting their mouths for 10, 15, and 20 years, will come to a dentist and ask him to try to "save" their teeth. This, of course, is impossible.

And while I'm on the subject, may I use your vast readership to implore people to take care of their teeth.No dentures will ever replace them.

D.M., D.D.S.
BEVERLY HILLS, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: I haven't had a problem I couldn't solve myself which is quite something at age 82, but I have a word for Grandpa about his store-teeth.

Sixteen years ago, before starting on a world cruise in a small yacht, I was advised by a San Diego dentist to have all my teeth extracted because if I ran into any trouble I would be far from a dentist.

He took the impressions after X-rays and when the upper plate was ready, I came in, he yanked all my uppers and popped the plate in, telling me to leave it in for a week. I did and it worked fine. Then I came in for the bottom set and his partner said I should keep my own lowers, so I did. I still have them but have to go in to have them treated regularly.

I should have had the lowers out, too. It would have saved a lot of trouble and expense.

KONA GREAT GRANDFATHER

DEAR ABBY: ABout Grandpa who can't keep up with the rest of the folks when it comes to eating with his new China clippers: You should have told him to take his time, enjoy the meal, and kid the others about where's the fire when they talk and eat and leave him way behind. He'll live longer.

Remember, too, that it took more than 2 months to learn to run. How do you expect to learn to eat with new teeth in that short time?

WEARS THEM

DEAR ABBY: Almost without exception I agree with you, but in the case of Grandpa, I feel a bit more information on your part is called for. It is obvious that YOU don't wear dentures, Abby.

May I suggest that all new denture wearers take smaller bites, chew more slowly, and distribute the food equally on both sides of the mouth to stabilize the dentures.

If they practice between meals with raisins, it will help. These hints and lots of patience may do the trick. If THAT doesn't work, then your advice to "put the bite on the dentist for a better fit" is in order. Yours very truly,

C.W.F. JR., D.D.S.
SHREVEPORT, LA.

DEAR ABBY: I read your advice to the denture patient, and I must say that you sure did put your foot in it.

I have practiced dentistry for more years than you are old and can tell you that NO denture patient can eat as fast with "store-bought" teeth as he could with his own.

Also, there are any number of denture wearers who, because of the anatomy of their mouths, or their inability to adjust to new situations, cannot get a better "fit" no matter how hard the dentist tries.

OLD PRO

DEAR "PRO:" All right I'll take 10 lashes with 40 yards of dental floss, and next time when it comes to "dentistry," I'll keep my unprofessional mouth shut.

Pupils Show Yule Spirit Year-Round

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—A group of 26 sixth graders believe that the gift of holiday giving should be a 12-month thing.

Each week, they contribute to a fund which goes to two orphans for spending money.

Mrs. Eva Townsend, teacher at Jackson Park elementary school in suburban University City, Mo., said someone in the class suggested, "Let's not stop just at Christmas, let's do something throughout the school year."

"I left it all up to the children," said Mrs. Townsend. The students contacted an orphans home and were told that they might contribute spending money to a boy named Tim and a girl named Sherri. No last names were given, and Mrs. Townsend's students hope to see the two orphans for the first time at the end of the school term.

The idea, explained Mrs. Townsend, a negro, was for the class to "adopt a boy and a girl in an orphan home." She said that all the students turn in weekly coins to the class treasurer, Kenneth Maglockin.

Student Laura Compton said, "People should realize that other people aren't always as lucky as they are—they should help them, not ignore them or pretend that it doesn't really matter."

Proposed Theater to Be Discussed by Co-Council

The El Paso County Women's Coordinating Council is scheduling a special program regarding a future home in the Pikes Peak area for the performing arts at their next meeting on Monday 7:30 p. m., at the Security Savings and Loan Building.

The community has expressed much interest in a proposed theater center for music, drama and the dance, its prestige for citizens and tourists and attracting future industry, to be discussed by Miss Ina Guyer and David Hand. Miss Guyer received her bachelor of arts degree at the University of Colorado Boulder campus and is employed in public relations work with Mountain States Telephone.

Hand received a bachelor of arts degree in theater from the University of California and is presently a lecturer on Technical Theater at Colorado College. His background of several years in professional theatre and allied industries in New York and Colorado includes Production Manager of the Broadmoor International Theater summer season series Colorado College Armstrong Theatre Manager, Alexander Films, Fine Arts Center Production Manager and development of Stage Engineering and Supply, Incorporated.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Carlton C. Finney who will represent the Pilot Club of Colorado Springs in presenting details regarding the "Miss Colorado Springs" Pageant.

Member clubs of Co-Council are urged to send their representative or alternative to this meeting.

Now a woman and her wig need never be parted, even at the airport. A new wig case is made to fit under a plane seat so it can be carried on and off the jet. The case also has a Styrofoam head inside which locks into a standing position when open to allow the wig hair to be brushed easily or rest after use.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

Ike Is Remembered Here for His Charm, Magnetism and Smile

By RAY HERST
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

Six years ago this July, a 72-year-old man, suntanned and smiling, strode vigorously to the first tee of the new golf course at the Air Force Academy.

He shed his coat, donned his glasses and teed up the ball. In front of him was a crowd of onlookers and news photographers, all with cameras clicking away.

"All right, boys," he said waving them away, "get out of there."

The way was cleared and he lined up the ball. He took a full swing. The ball arced high in the air and hooked into the trees. The golfer lost its flight in the sun.

"Where'd I hit that one?" he asked. When told, he said he wanted another chance. He took more time on this swing, commenting?

"This is fun. I haven't had practice drives in a long time." He then hauled off and smacked this one straight down the fairway.

"That's better," he said satisfactorily and flashed the grin that had won him the hearts of the world.

That was the last time Dwight David Eisenhower visited Colorado Springs. He was there to dedicate the Academy golf course which was named in his honor.

But it wasn't the first time, at least not the first time he visited here as a public figure.

The first visit was in August of 1948. He was then the new president of Columbia University, a position he had taken three months earlier and was at the Broadmoor to play golf.

At that time, Sen. Joseph McCarthy was chairman of the House un-American activities committee which was threatening to investigate Columbia faculty members for alleged Communist activities.

"If the un-American Activities committee or any other congressional committee wishes to investigate Columbia University, they are invited to come right up and see for themselves," he told a Gazette Telegraph reporter at that time. He said that he took the position at Columbia because "I want to do what I can to interest American youth in what we have here and work for American democracy as we know it."

(Six years later, while serving his first term in office, the United States Senate censured that same Sen. McCarthy for his overzealous handling of the committee.)

That was the tough side of Dwight David Eisenhower, but he displayed another side during that trip here. A companion, traveling with Eisenhower, tried to stop a GT photographer from taking pictures of Ike.

"We went round and round," the photographer recalled. "Then I heard Ike was in the clubhouse, dressing. I went in and this guy was trailing me, ranting about no pictures. Ike laughed and said, 'You haven't been in this business long enough. You have to learn you can't fight a news photographer. Now what we do is go outside, I pose, he takes a picture and leaves me to my game. That's all there is to it.' I got my picture."

Ike was back at the Broadmoor in 1950 to play more golf and he was here again in 1953, this time as President of the United States to attack the Broadmoor course again.

At that time there was considerable talk that he was planning to establish his "summer" White House here, but the President chose Augusta, Ga. and the National Golf Club instead.

On April 1, 1954, Eisenhower signed the congressional bill establishing the Air Force Academy. Two months later, it was announced the Academy would be built here.

In 1959, a year before he left office, President Eisenhower visited the academy for the first time and addressed the cadets in the Mitchell dining hall. It was an informal visit, and because it was, the President declined to grant amnesty to rules-breaking cadets — a tradition for presidential visits.

The following year, Eisenhower was back in the region again, this time for a visit to the Boy Scout Jamboree which was being held north of Colorado Springs. More than 50,000 scouts saw the president at that time.

His last visit was on July 8, 1963, when he dedicated the golf course at the academy.

Looking happy and relaxed and full of vim and vigor, the former president told the crowd that "For me this is a great honor."

He said that when he was asked if the course could be named in tribute to him, "There were few honors that I have received in my life that I accepted so quickly and so happily."

Ike said he was pleased to be back in Colorado "Among some of my very best friends." And he said it was a particular pleasure for him to be at the academy "because my association with the academy goes way back."

As he spoke, it was obvious that he had lost none of the personal magnetism that won for him the greatest majority on record when he was first elected president.

It was Eisenhower who appointed the committee to select the site for the nation's newest military academy.

"I appointed an impartial and unbiased committee," he said on that July day. Then he grinned: "In spite of the fact they knew I wanted the academy in Colorado I'm sure they decided impartially."

Following the dedication, Ike toured the academy. He moved strongly, quickly, looking far less than his 72 years.

"The old man really gets around," one officer commented.

"Yeah, he still looks like he was ramrodding a troop," another said.

That was the image Dwight David Eisenhower left on Colorado Springs six years ago.

The image of a happy, relaxed man, vital and full of life; the image of a man who could laugh when the chaplain at the Academy closed his invocation at the dedication ceremonies with a special prayer he said he had written in honor of Ike:

"Please Lord, before my days are done — I'd love to make a hole in one."

The image of the man who replied that he preferred another prayer, one which Ike said he recited every day of his life:

"Oh, Lord, let us sustain freedom."

That was Dwight David Eisenhower in Colorado Springs for the last time.

HE WAS PLEASED — The famous Eisenhower grin flashed across the face of former President Dwight Eisenhower as he completed a drive from the first tee at dedicatory ceremonies July 8, 1963 for the Eisenhower golf course at the Air Force Academy.

EISENHOWER VISITS ACADEMY — Pres. Dwight Eisenhower is shown as he spoke to cadets in Mitchell dining hall during a visit to the Air Force Academy May 15, 1959. The President said since his visit was informal in nature he was not taking advantage of the perogative of a head of state to grant amnesty to cadets under discipline.

Tribe Gets 109 Points In Triangular Victory

By MIKE MONROE
Gazette Telegraph
Sports Writer

Performances generally were not quite as impressive as a week ago, but Palmer's Terrors still managed to overwhelm both Canon City and Harrison in a triangular track meet Thursday at Palmer's Erps Field. The Terrors compiled 109 points to 39 for Canon City and 22 for Harrison.

Last week coach Bob Henry's Terrors were led by junior sprinter David Holmes' fantastic 9.8 100 yard dash in a triangular win over Cheyenne Mountain and Mitchell.

Thursday Holmes again won both the 100 and 220 yard dashes, but his century time was a "slow" 10.2. He captured the 220 in 23.8 compared to his 23.3 last week.

The Terrors captured first in 12 of the 16 events in the meet. Double winners in the meet besides Holmes were Palmer jump star John Duvall and hurdler August Turner. Duvall, who went 6-8⅜ Saturday in the Air Force Academy Jaycees Easter Races, took it easy in his speciality, taking first with a 6-0 jump. Turned captured both hurdle races.

He also outleaped all competitors in the triple jump with a 40-4½ effort.

Forty points of the Terror's total came in four events. Palmer competitors took the first three places in four events — the 100 and 220 yard dashes, the high jump and the long jump.

Odis Sparks led the one-two-three sweep in the long jump. He grabbed first with a jump of 19-5, with Duvall getting second with 19-3½.

Sparks also got second to Holmes in the 100. He was clocked in 10.3.

All four of the firsts not taken by Palmer were captured by Canon City. The Tigers showed a strong group of middle-distance runners taking first in the 440 yard dash and the half mile, as well as the mile relay. The fourth Tiger first place was turned in by Terry Speakes, who won the pole vault.

Dave McFarland outkicked Palmer's Bill Churchill for first in the quarter. The Canon City ace was clocked in 53.8, while Churchill crossed the line in 54.3.

Alan Ohmert nipped Terror Terry Matthews for first in the 880. Ohmert was timed in 2:10.8 while Matthews had a 2:11.0.

Both Ohmert and McFarland ran on the winning Tiger mile relay team. They were joined by Dave Dilley and Joe Berry for a clocking of 3:40.9.

Palmer's Ron Elstun continued to dominate area mile competition. He won the four-lap race in a leisurely 4:46.0, jogging the last 100 yards to save himself for the 440 ten minutes later. He finished third in the quarter.

One of the few Terrors to better his mark in last week's triangular meet was hurdeler Turner. His wining time in the 120 yard high hurdles was slower than last week's, 16.2, but he clipped a tenth of a second off his 180 yard low hurdle time, getting a 21.8.

Holmes and Sparks teamed with Joe Morgan and Rodney McDonald to get first in the 880 yard relay. The quarter turned in a 1:35.1 clocking.

Palmer's Jerry Skalla failed in an attempt to go under 11 minutes for the two mile run, but just barely. He won the event in 11:00.7. Terror two-mile ace Steve Castaneda did not run in the meet, sitting out the competition with an injured ankle.

Weight men Pat Schmidt and Roland Thomas traded first and second places in the shot put and discus for the Terrors. Schmidt got off a 48-4¾ heave in the shot put while Thomas took second. Thomas turned the order around in the discus, getting first with a toss of 119-2. Schmidt got second in that event.

The Terrors now have two triangular meet victories in two outings. It was the first small-meet competition for both Canon City and Harrison.

The Terrors next week will participate in the Pikes Peak Relays at Wasson Stadium.

Both Canon City and Harrison will participate in the Will Rogers League Relays Saturday at Mullen High School in Fort Logan.

Mile Relays—1. Canon City (McFarland, Berry, Dilley, Ohmert) 2. Palmer; 3:40.9

A SWITCH SWINGER—Harry Toscano, of New Castle, Pa., a right handed hitter, puts his foot into the water just off the 17th fairway but finds the water too deep to stand in and make a second shot. The ball was less than a foot from the bank. Toscano dried his feet off and then, holding the club head towards himself, hit the ball left handed from dry land. Weaver Leads Airlines Golf; Veteran Sam Snead Only One Stroke Off Pace

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, (AP) — Sam Snead has a new putting stroke—his pool room special—and he says he feels like he's 16 instead of 56.

"I feel so good I believe I could go out and shoot a 50," the old Virginia hillbilly exulted after firing a five-under-par 67 Thursday in the opening round of the $200,000 National Airlines Open golf tournament.

Slammin' Sammy, who has won more than 100 tournaments in a career spanning three decades, found himself only one stroke off the record-setting pace of young Dewitt Weaver, out front with a 66.

Directly trailing Weaver and Snead were seven pros bunched at 68—Australian Bruce Crampton, 41-year-old Lionel Hebert, Dale Douglass, Dick Sikes, Dave Stockton, Butch Baird Frank Beard. There were 13 others with Palmer and Player at 69.

But everybody's eyes, entering the second round over the 6,927-yard par 72 Country Club of Miami course, were on the fabulous Snead.

"I think I can still play as good as any of these young fellows from tee to green," drawled Snead, who grew up in the hills around Hot Springs, Va., and became the capitalist pro of the fashionable Greenbrier Club at White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.

"It's just a matter of getting it in the hole. Like Ben Hogan I've been getting the yips out there on the green.

"Now I've got a new putting stroke, and I believe I've got it licked."

His croquet stance now banned, Sammy putts normally from 15 feet and farther away. From 15 feet in, he uses a stroke similar to the croquet style but standing sideways instead of astride the ball, now illegal.

The left hand is held at the top of the club and the right, the pushing hand, is about a foot farther down the shaft. Formerly, Sam held his hand behind the shaft and shoved the blade.

"Now I grip the club in my right hand the way you would grip a cue stick in playing pool. I've got a much better touch."

Snead also proved he could still belt the ball when he hit a 320-yard drive on the final hole, chipping up to within six feet for his final birdie.

"I had been afraid to really hit the ball because the fairways are so tight," Sam explained. "But when I birdied the 17th, I decided to let one fly."

Weaver, 29, son of the former Texas Tech football coach, also let a few fly in getting five birdies and an eagle. Weaver uncocked drives of more than 300 yards and hit a three-wood 270 yards to within six feet for an eagle on the 570-yard seventh.

Russians, Czechs Battle for World Ice Hockey Crown

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Russians, undisputed amateur world ice hockey champions for the last six years, must defend their title tonight against an onslaught of fervent Czech nationalism.

The Czechs are in a position to topple the Russians. The Swedes also have an outside chance of winning the title.

All the pent-up patriotism of the Czechs, which has been seething ever since Russian troops occupied their country last August, is likely to go into the game.

The two teams are level at the top of the standings, with 14 points from eight games.

The Czechs, raising their play to a peak unmatched in their other games, upset Russia 2-0 in their first meeting last week. It was one of the most emotional games ever played in a world tournament.

All the critics here agree that the great Russian team of the last six years is on the decline. Some of the older Russian stars are slowing up, and a crop of promising young players have not yet reached their peak.

Bad luck has hit the Czechs at the vital stage of the tournament. Jak Suchy, defense man and one of the outstanding figures in the championships, broke his finger in the game against the United States two nights ago and is unlikely to play against Russia.

But the Russians also have been playing without one of their key defense men, Victor Kuzkin, in recent matches. He has a leg injury.

The United States, fighting to avoid bottom place and stay in the world championship pool, is having two days off before facing Sweden Saturday and Finland Sunday.

John Mayasich, U.S. playing coach from Green Bay, Wis., has been nursing a slight leg strain but expects to be fit for the last two games. The Americans have lost all their eight games thus far.

In the only game played Thursday, Canada's poor campaign in the tournament reached new depths of humiliation. Sweden defeated Canada 4-2.

The Swedes' victory gave them a certain bronze and the possibility of a silver—or even a gold—if both the Russians and Czechs slip up in their final games.

Indiana Sets Medley Relay Record, Takes Early Lead in NCAA Swimming

By ERIC PREWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) —Bryan Bateman's 44.9-second freestyle leg gave Indiana an American record of 3:25.8 in the 400-yard medley relay Thursday night, and the Hoosiers scored victories in four of the first five finals of the 46th NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships.

Mark Spitz won the 500-yard freestyle after setting an American mark of 4:33.2 in qualifying competition, Charlie Hickcox took the 200 indivial medley and Jim Henry led the Hoosiers to a sweep of the first three places in the one-meter diving finals.

Dan Frawley on Southern California in :21.04. In an afternoon qualifying heat, he set an NCAA record of :20.81, beating the old mark of :20.9.

The defending champion Hoosiers, heavily favored to repeat, had 152 points, Southern Cal had 95 and Stanford was third with 65.

Stanford was timed in 3:26.86. In the afternoon, Stanford's team had beaten the old NCAA mark of 3:29.5 with a 3:29.18 clocking.

Hickcox had a :52.7 leg in the backstroke, Don McKenzie followed with a :57.5 breastroke leg and Steve Borowski was timed in :50.7 in the buttly section.

The best previous U.S. mark was 3:28.6 by Yale earlier this year. The old meet record was UCLA's 3:29.5 in 1967.

Spitz was pushed to his 500 title by Hans Fassnacht of Long Beach State.

Spitz's winning time in the finals was 4:33.48 and Fassnacht was second 4:33.57.

The record afternoon performance was also a photo finish. The Hoosier freshman came from behind in both races to nip the 18-year-old West German freshman.

Hickcox, who won three NCAA events last year, took the 200 individual medley in 1:54.43.

Henry, repeating as one-meter diving champion, had 531.06 points. Win Young and Jon Hahnfeldt gave the Hoosiers the next two spots.

Rally Ties Ice Contest For Locals

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — A furious rally by the Colorado Springs squad tied Minnesota, 4-4, Thursday night in early round play in the National Junior Hockey Olympics.

Minnesota went into a 3-0 first-period lead with some fast action but the Springs team, made up of Colorado College freshmen and the top senior high school stars from Colorado Springs, nibbled away at the lead.

With only 24 seconds remaining in the contest, Wasson's star center Chip Merkert slapped the tying puck into the net that ended the scoring.

AAU Tourney May Require Deposit Plan

MACON, Ga. (AP) — National AAU basketball officials recommended Thursday that a deposit be required in the future for teams entering the national tournament.

Bill Summers, basketball chairman of the AAU, said the recommendation was made at a meeting of the basketball committee because of the failure early this week of the Los Angeles Chippers to appear for a first-round game.

Future entries in the tournament reportedly will be asked to deposit $200 as an appearance bond.

Summers said the committee is discussing what penalty to assess the Los Angeles team.

AAU officials from Macon, which is host to the national tournament for the first time, have recommended that the five day meet be trimmed to a four-day tournament next year, and attempts be made to have the championship televised.

Cardinals Top Mets Diamond Club; Rehabilitation Program Pays Off

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

After two consecutive pennants, the St. Louis Cardinals have gone into the rehabilitation business, and if spring training is any indication, they may profit with another National League championship.

The Cardinals acquired Vada Pinson, Joe Torre and Bob Johnson during the winter and spring and all three are paying dividends for their new lease on life.

Thursday was a good example as the trio collected five hits and spurred the Cardinals to a 4-0 victory over the New York Mets in an exhibition game.

In other games, Atlanta stopped red - hot Baltimore 7-1, the New York Yankees nipped Minnesota 2-1, Washington tripped Los Angeles 5-4 in 12 innings, Philadelphia downed Detroit 5-4 in 12 innings, Pittsburgh bounced the Chicago White Sox 6-2, Oakland edged California 3-2, Houston defeated Kansas City 5-1, Seattle beat San Diego 6-3, Montreal blasted the Los Angeles B team 8-1 and San Francisco outslugged the Chicago Cubs 9-7.

Pinson, coming off his worst year in 10 major league seasons with Cincinnati, raised his spring average to .450 as the Cardinals' new right fielder singled in one run, singled to set up another and made two good catches.

Torre, acquired for Orlando Cepeda after two bad years at Atlanta, tripled and singled. And Johnson, an oft-traded utility man also gotten from Atlanta, drove in another run with a single after delivering a single and a double in an 8-4 B squad victory over the Mets' B team in the morning.

Conigliaro, well on his way to making a startling comeback, singled in one run and then homered against a stiff breeze. Carl Yastrzemski singled in another Boston run to up his average to .452.

Cepeda hit his second homer for Atlanta and Cecil Upshaw and Gary Neibauer combined on a two-hitter to hand Baltimore only its third loss in 17 games.

Tom Tresh slammed a two-run homer and Mel Stottlemyre went seven innings, giving up his first run in 20 innings, in the Yankee victory, and Hank Allen's leadoff homer in the last of the 12th won for Washington.

Tom Matchick's bad throw in the 12th inning let in Philadelphia's winning run against Detroit and Steve Blass went seven good innings for Pittsburgh to beat the White Sox.

Oakland scored unearned runs in the seventh and eighth innings to top California. Rookie Tom Griffin, Howie Reed and Fred Gladding combined on a three-hitter to send Houston past the Royals.

Larry Haney drove in five runs with a single and a homer for Seattle while San Francisco scored five runs in the eighth inning to beat the Cubs.

Kansas City Takes Gloves Team Title; Favorites Tumble

By LEW FERGUSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — About the only thing that followed the form sheet in the windup of the 42nd National Golden Gloves Tournament Thursday night was Kansas City's team championship.

The host team captured the title with 19 points, two more than Cleveland.

Since Kansas City had grabbed a one-point lead going into the semifinals and sent five of its fighters into that round, nobody really figured to overtake the host squad.

Chief among the casualties were Lorenzo Trujillo of Grand Rapid, Mich., the only defending champion to make it past the first round; Mike Quarry, younger brother of pro heavyweight contender Jerry Quarry, and John Brown, the nifty 156-pounder who had ousted Olympic bronze medal winner Johnnie Baldwin of Washington, D.C.

Quarry, who had won the plaudits of the Municipal Auditorium crowd in his early bouts, was the victim of a vengeful audience.

Quarry won a unanimous decision over John Santiago of Roswell, N.M., in the semifinals —a decision which the crowd didn't like. Santiago, a stylish boxer, had become a crowd favorite.

Walter E. Moore Jr., of Los Angeles repeated the feat of his father when he took the heavyweight championship with a second - round technical knockout over Ron Draper of Kansas City.

Moore's father won the Gloves heavyweight crown in 1943.

DU Leads After First Ski Event

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo. —The University of Denver's ski team, seeking to regain the NCAA title it lost last year to Wyoming, jumped off to the lead Thursday in the slalom, opening event of the championships at the Mt. Werner area. Wyoming is 10th in the standings.

Denver clustered 90.1 points, with Montana State at 96.7 just ahead of Dartmouth at 96.5. Washington scored 90.4; Western, Colo., State 87.6; Middlebury 87.3; Fort Lewis, Colo., 87.0; Nevada 86.3; Wyoming 80.9; Colorado 73.5 and Harvard 68.6.

The event was run in bright sunlight on two icy courses which held up well during the day. The downhill and cross country events will be run Friday, and the jumping is scheduled for Saturday.

Dartmouth and Colorado were favored with Denver before the meet opened, but Colorado's poor showing Thursday has put it out of the running for the team championship. All but one of Colorado's slalom racers fell.

Skiers from the U.S. Air Force Academy finished second and ninth in the slalom, but they raced as individuals since Air Force did not qualify for team competition.

Slalom results
1. Paul Rachetto, Denver, 43.34, 48.07, 1:31.41.
2. Gary Schwartz, Air Force, 45.08, 47.76, 1:32.85.
3. Tom Gratsch, Colorado, 46.56, 46.49, 1:33.05.
4. James Lenon, Montana State, 45.85, 48.41, 1:34.26.
5. Mike Keene, Denver, 46.28, 48.27, 1:34.55.
6. Ken Patterson, Montana State, 45.99, 48.59, 1:34.58.

Colorado Greyhound Season to Open

LOVELAND — Some 12,000 greyhound fans are expected to gather here tonight when Cloverleaf Greyhound Park kicks off the 1969 Colorado racing season with an 11-race program starting at 8:05 p.m.

Also in the first night headliner are George Woods Vigor Jet, Mulberry Kennel's L.B.'s Big Red, Edwin Klein's Singing Judy, John Good's Millsome White, Robert Thorne's Brenda's Boy, Cecil Wilson's Todd's Andi and Bruce Swerling's Caprioled.

Tim London, who won 15 of 31 starts last summer at West Memphis, Ark., will be trying to give Shockley his third Inaugural triumph here. Shockley's Mark Al land T. D. Witt won back-to-back Inaugurals in 1964 and 1965.

NHL's East Division Playoff Teams Set But Final Standings in Doubt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Hockey League's four East Division playoff teams—Montreal, Boston, New York and Toronto—head into the final weekend of the regula season with their final positions in the standings still indoubt.

Boston kept its hopes for catching Montreal alive by typing New York 3-3 Thursday night while Toronto clinched a berth and closed in on the third-place Rangers by beating Detroit 4-2.

The Canadiens hold a three-point lead that can only be overcome by consecutive Boston victories Saturday and Sunday.

The tie trimmed New York's edge over Toronto in the battle for third place to two points. The Rangers and Maple Leafs met each other Saturday in Toronto and again Sunday in New York.

Toronto would need a sweep of those games to finish third. If the Leafs win one and tie the other, they would tie the Rangers in total points but be declared fourth on the basis of few victories. Toronto cannot match the Rangers total of 39 victories.

Toronto got goals from Floyd Smith and Paul Henderson, two ex-Red Wings, to sink Detroit. FRank Mahovlich, who moved to Detroit in the big trade that sent Smith and Henderson to the Leafs, scored his 48th of the season, matching his previous single season career high.

Hudson's Point Burst Sparks Hawks Victory

By PIET BENNET

ATLANTA (AP) — Lou Hudson had "confidence" and now the Atlanta Hawks have the lead in their National Basketball Association playoff series against San Diego.

Hudson's 39 points helped the Hawks thrash San Diego 107-98 Thursday night and take a 1-0 lead into Saturday's second game in the best-of-7 Western Division semifinal series against the Rockets.

"When you're shooting and it's going in, you get your confidence and it's hard to stop you," Hudson said, explaining his best playoff performance.

Coach Jack McMahon of San Diego described Hudson's scoring as a "super game." The Rockets' coach added wryly that he assigned three players to try cutting off Hudson's scoring and "maybe I should have tried a few more."

Hudson started hitting in the second quarter as the Hawks pulled from 13 points behind to a 46-43 halftime lead.

Richie Guerin, the Atlanta coach, said the Hawks were "a little tight" when the game began. "When you get off to a bad start, you don't get loosened up that easily," he explained.

McMahon said the game's turning point came in the second quarter when "we hit a cold stretch and I began making substitutions. But not one of those subs scored a basket.

CSU Gym Star Cops Second

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Utah's Mike Kimball and Ron Baretta of Colorado State University provided the highlights Thursday as the Western Athletic Conference Gymnastic Championships opened here.

Kimball and Baretta were closely matched in all phases of the all-around and finished only four-tenths of a point apart. Kimball, last year's all-around titlist, had 45.6 points while Baretta scored 45.2.

Jim Hruben of New Mexico was third with 43.3, Sergio Luna of Utah fourth with 38.9 and Darryl Blair of Arizona State fifth with 33.2.

The all-around was the only event held Thursday and entrants from all eight WAC schools competed. The opening night scores will be added to the all-around totals Friday night and will decide the league champion in the event.

Friday night, the WAC team champions will be crowned and the squad named to the NCAA gymnastic finals in Seattle, Wash., April 3-5. The meet ends Saturday night with winners being crowned in all six events.

Allen Paces Bowling Open

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Bill Allen of Fresno, Calif., easily paced 15 other pros Thursday into Friday's semifinal of the Professional Bowlers Association $45,000 New Orleans Open.

Why L.A. Did Not Send AAU Cage Team?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The mystery, if there really was one, was cleared up Thursday as to why a Los Angeles team did not show up for the national AAU men's basketball tournament in Macon, Ga.

"We just couldn't round up enough or the right players," said Dink Marcus, coach of the missing iKtchen Fresh Chippers. "Some of the fellows couldn't get off work."

Silliman Is Tops in AAU Meet

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Mike Silliman is the big name in the 1969 National AAU Basketball Tournament.

He's not a gunner nor a household name in the nation. But he was a starter for the U.S. basketball team last fall in the Olympics and the most sought after player in the AAU Championships.

The 6 foot 6 Army captain is not flashy, controversial nor free-wheelin but he gets the job done. That is why his Armed Forces All-Star team ranks as the favorite going into tonight's semifinals.

"Mike does it all," Coach Hal Fischer of the All-Stars said.

"If we need 20 points, he gets 20. If we need six points, he gets six.

"If we need rebounds, he gets rebounds. If we need passes, he passes.

"You can't beat him," Fischer said.

Jerry's Restaurant of Lexington, Ky., will try in the semifinals to prove Fischer wrong, while the famed Akron, Ohio, Goodyear team battles the Macon Movers for the other berth in Saturday's title showdown.

Silliman, former West Point cadet, who now is a captain in special serves in Korea, is hoping to impress pro scouts here. He winds up his military hitch next year, so he can get an early release—and said he hopes to into professional basketball.

"I'd like to try it, and I think I can jet the job don," Silliman said.

Indiana Clinches Eastern Crown; Pipers Fall to Oaks in ABA Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Indiana Pacers are going to have to wait until the day before the season ends to clinch the Eastern Division title in the American Basketball Association unless Kentucky or Miami can do it for them earlier.

The Pacers missed their chance Thursday night by losing to Oakland 122-110 after New Orleans had clinched at least a tie for them by beating Kentucky 137-106.

In other games, Minnesota nipped the New York Nets 117-115 and Los Angeles topped Houston 130-124.

In the National Basketball Association playoffs, the New York Knicks whipped Baltimore 113-101 in the Eastern Division semifinals and Atlanta beat San Diego 107-98 in the West semis.

Miami would have to win the rest of its four games, including one against Kentucky, while Indiana loses to tie for the title.

Kentucky, which also has a game left against Miami, also must win its remaining five games to tie.

Oakland, in whipping Indiana, swept all six meetings with the Pacers this season. The Oaks, who led all the way, built a 65-59 halftime bulge and boosted the margin to 14 points.

New Orleans built a 20-point lead at home against the Colonels, and when Kentucky pulled within three in the third period, Jimmy Jones scored 12 of his 31 points in the next five minutes to wrop up the victory.

Chico Vaughn, who scored 35 points, broke a 104 deadlock with two free throws and Minnesota pulled ahead 117-110 to deal the host Nets their 12th consecutive loss, despite a club record 43 points by Willie Somerset.

Lopez 'Pretty Sure' This Is Last Season With Sox

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — In all probability this is the last time around for Al Lopez as a big league manager. The soft-spoken popular veteran came out of semi-retirement last July to take over the Chicago White Sox from Eddie Stanky. After finishing out the season he agreed to stay on one more year.

"We'll just play it by ear about the future," said the 60-year-old Lopez, whose home is in nearby Tampa. "I'm pretty sure this will be the last. I'd like to get the ball club back in contention.

"The White Sox always were built around pitching, defense and speed. I hope to build them up again. We sagged last year in all departments. Injuries ruined our pitching staff."

Chicago lost its first 10 games last season, plunging deep into the cellar. They ended up tied for eighth with the California Angels, 28 games under .500 and 36 lengths behind Detroit.

Lopez thinks the new two-division system will be more interesting. The White Sox will be fighting it out with Oakland, Minnesota, California and the two expansion clubs—Kansas City and Seattle.

When Lopez came to camp he was worried about his pitching because he didn't know what to expect from Gary Peters and Tommy John. Both have been coming along fine so far.

Peters, bothered by a groin injury and a tender elbow, won only four games last year, compared to 16 in 1967. John, knocked out for the year in a tackling match with Detroit's Dick McAuliffe in August, won his first seven and had to settle for 10-5.

"It looks like my left shoulder is going to be all right," said John. "I was worried about it last fall but I think it's going to come back."

Lopez counts on John as a regular starter with Peters and Joe Horlen as the nucleus of his staff. Sammy Ellis and Cisco Carlos are probable starters. Danny Lazar, a young lefty, could get into the rotation or the bullpen which is well-manned with Wilbur Wood's knuckler and Bob La Porte's sinker ball.

Former MVP Jensen Is Serious After Attack

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Former major league baseball star Jackie Jensen was "resting comfortably" but still in serious condition at a Reno hospital Thursday after suffering a heart attack Wednesday.

Jensen, 42, was stricken while coaching his University of Nevada, Reno, baseball team in a practice session.

A Washoe Medical center spokesman said Jensen remained serious, but his condition was stable and he was "holding his own" in the hospital's main cardiac unit.

"You don't really know what the situation will be for a few days," said his wife Kathy at their home in the mountains west of here.

"The extent of damage isn't determined yet, but they have every reason to suspect he's not suffered too much damage."

She said doctors told her he would have to spend six weeks in the hospital, then face "a gradual recovery."

Jensen was the American League's most valuable player in 1958, hitting 35 home runs for the Boston Red Sox and leading the league with 122 rbis.

He started professional ball with Oakland of the Pacific Coast League in 1949 after playing football for the University of California at Berkeley. Jensen's career in the majors included stints with the New York Yankees and Washington Senators, but he quit in 1961 because he didn't like air travel.

Jensen was in a restaurant partnership in San Francisco for a time and has done television sports in Reno, where he has made his home in recent years.

Two assistants were carrying on Nevada baseball practice Thursday. This was Jensen's first year as the team's coach, and his team had an 8-5 record.

Celtics After Second Straight Playoff Win

BOSTON (AP) — The aging Boston Celtics, defending their National Basketball Association championship for the 10th time, will be seeking their second victory over the Philadelphia 76ers tonight as the Eastern Division playoff battle moves to Boston Garden.

The Celtics, who finished fourth in the Eastern Division during the regular season, surprised the 76ers Wednesday night in Philadelphia with a 114-102 victory in the opener of the series.

Capt. John Havlicek led the Boston attack with 35 points. "We have to win, that's our game," Havlicek said. "When we try to get fancy and look for the one-on-one situation, we seem to fall apart."

For the 76ers to win in Boston, they will need a better performance from scoring star Hal Greer than they got Wednesday.

Billy Cunningham, Philadelphia's All-Star forward, suffered muscle spasm in his back Wednesday night, but team doctors said he would be fit for tonight's game. Cunningham had 29 points in the opener.

There's a Lot of Talent In Burton's Musical Bag

By ROGER DOUGHTY
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — "I never paid much attention to the music polls when I wasn't winning them," Gary Burton grinned through a mod mustache, "and now that I've won a few, I take them even less seriously. The guys who are playing the best music aren't always known by the public."

Burton, of course, is known by the public, at least that segment of the public that reads Down Beat, quotes Leonard Feather, digs Marian McPartland and listens to those hardy few radio stations that haven't gone all talk, all country and western, all news, all classical, all Italian or all out for the top 50 on the rock charts.

In other words, there are a lot of people who never heard of Gary Burton. He's something of a well-kept secret. A talented secret, to be sure, but well kept just the same.

Burton, who claims no relationship to THE Burtons, doesn't play rock. In fact, he doesn't know exactly what he does play, just that he plays it on the vibes.

Whatever Gary's music is called, he has been doing well enough with it to be named Down Beat's Jazzman of the Year, to finish second to Milt Jackson (the perennial winner) for top vibes honors in the Playboy all-star poll and to place two LPs ("Duster" and "Lofty Fake Anagram") in the top 25 of the year by a small combo. Not bad for a guy who hasn't seen his 25th birthday yet.

"People always ask me what I call my music," Gary says, scratching his lengthy locks, "and my first instinct is to call it jazz, because that's the form of improvised music. But ours is a different kind of jazz. It's drawn from a lot of sources — country and western, rock, blues, classical — everything."

The finished product, the sound of the Gary Burton Quartet, can probably be best described as the intertwining of everything — the complete mixed musical bag.

"I've never liked the idea of people getting hung up trying to paste labels on other people's music," admits Gary, "and they can't do it with mine. I can't even do it myself."

Another thing people can't paste a label on is Gary. At first glance the casual observer might mistake him for an escapee from an East Village happening. In truth, he's just a serious young man from Evansville, Ind. Hip, but not a hippie.

"Let's face it," sighs Gary, "a lot of older people think that everyone in my generation is rock-oriented. Rock did come on very strong, but there are a lot of young musicians, like me, with classical training. Most of the others are doing the same kind of thing I'm doing, whatever you care to call it."

The fact that Gary has long hair, a mustache and likes modish clothes isn't nearly as important to those who rave about him as is the fact he studied classical composition at the Berklee School of Music and the Boston Conservatory. Hearing is believing.

After two successful European tours, Gary admits to being better known in London than he is in New York. His chief support in this country is found on campus, a location where Gary himself can usually be found.

For the most part, the Burton Quartet works college concerts (10 this February alone), takes a few club dates and hopes that people who like what they hear will buy their records.

"Our radio play," Gary admits, "is mixed. It's good in Boston and San Francisco, not bad in Los Angeles, but terrible in New York and many other major cities. Most of the stations are devoted to hard-core rock, because that's what moves merchandise. There is a rock station in San Francisco that plays a pretty wide assortment of jazz, classics and even Indian music, which I once thought was the idea behind it all as far as radio is concerned, but that station is an exception. On most of them it's rock around the clock."

"Today the 'in' thing is to have an appreciation of rock and to treat it as a serious form of music," the vibes virtuoso says, "but that wasn't the case 10 years ago. Who knows how things will be 10 years from today."

One thing for sure, by 1979 Gary Burton will be a lot less of a wel - kept secret. You may even be able to hear him on the radio once in awhile.

Two Extortioners Sentenced to Death

MANILA (AP)—Two Bureau of Internal Revenue men have been sentenced to death in the electric chair for extorting money from a Chinese woman restaurant owner and causing her death four years ago.

Judge Francisco de la rosa of nearby Pasay City found Francisco Bello, 39, and Eulogio San Juan, 41, guilty of robbery with homicide. An accomplice, Florencio Manguban, 35, also an employe of the tax collection bureau, was sentenced to serve 10 to 17 years in prison.

The three men were accused of placing 12 packages of untaxed cigarettes in the restaurant of Wong Ley Shee at the Manila international airport and threatening to have her deported if she didn't pay them $1,250. She gave them half of the amount.

The 56-year-old woman died of a cerebral hemorrahge later, and the court ruled it was caused by the extortion.

Oates Joins Cast

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Character actor Warren Oates joins Kirk Douglas and Henry Fonda in "There Was a Crooked Man."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Even though Antarctica is snow-covered, it is the world's largest desert, The World Almanac says. Half the size of the United States, this frozen wasteland surrounding the South Pole receives only six inches of snow yearly, which equals ½-inch of rain. Death Valley, in summer the hottest and driest place in the nation, receives more moisture than that.

Record Visitors To Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Foreign visitors poured into Britain in record numbers in 1968, according to the nations official tourist organization.

The British Travel Organization said the country attracted more than 4 million visitors for the first time last year, an increase of 14 per cent over 1967. They included 1,941,000 from Europe, up 18 per cent, and 878,000 from the United States a gain of 5 per cent.

Questioning of Rogers Said to Be Love Feast

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Has the cold war ended between the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the State Department?

The change in times, events, and men have brought such a contrast in mood that the first public questioning of Secretary of State William P. Rogers by the committee—and chairman J. W. Fulbright—was almost a love feast.

A year ago the debate over Vietnam and whether to end the bombing was raging. There was no hint of Paris peace talks. Lyndon Johnson, worrying about the war, U.S. dissension and primary results, was preparing to announce he would not seek re-election as president.

Relations between the Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the dove wing of the committee had become so frayed that Fulbright complained he was unable to get the secretary to testify on Vietnam at a public hearing.

And when Rusk did appear to make his stolid defense of the administration's position in Vietnam, critic Fulbright felt it necessary to explain to Rusk and the public:

"I know that you understand, and those in this room and the public at large will understand, thatt he discussion between you and the committee . . . is not inspired in any way by any personal animus toward you."

Now the committee doves see Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird as the Nixon administration hawk with his tough talk about the Soviet missile arsenal and his view that no reduction in the U.S. troop strength in Vietnam is foreseeable.

With less than three months in the State Department's executive suite his talk is free of the Foggy Bottom phrases and Pentagonese that irk if not infuriate Fulbright and some other committee members.

The committee, Fulbright said, is "interested in strengthening the hand of the State Department" in dealing with the power of the military.

Rogers said he appreciated Fulbright's points and "I appreciate the support of this committee."

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., called Rogers' testimony "a fine performance."

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., cautioned the secretary that on his next time out the committee might push him harder.

But Rogers cautioned the committee not to expect a play-by-play on the private negotiations. But he acknowledged on secret talks have a way of slipping out, and added:

"If you would ask yourselves what you would do differently than we're doing, keep in mind that you may not know what we're doing would be helpful."

As a measure of the mood, Fulbright and the others laughed.

"SECRET CEREMONY"
UNTIL YOU HAVE READ THIS!

Just as we did, you will probably find much to discuss after you have seen "Secret Ceremony." We don't mean just the obvious things. Not that you won't have much of that to discuss. But maybe you will see a little of the same entrancing and intoxicating quality in Mia Farrow that Frank Sinatra evidently saw - that she was not, in fact, just some impish Lolita-child that Sinatra wanted and impulsively married, but quite apart from that, a brilliant and sensitive young actress with a strange and almost hypnotic physical appeal.

And obviously some will want to talk about the fact that Elizabeth Taylor has taken on some weight (in this case she did it deliberately) and now has a few lines in her face. In fact, you'd be interested in what she said while the picture was being made.

"There are scenes between Mia and I that couldn't be played unless we both forgot about beauty. You can't have a violent scene between two actresses without having them contort their faces. The kind of beauty where a woman is afraid to smile or become enraged in a scene is a bore. A face without flaws, a face without character, means nothing on the screen and certainly nothing in real life. I plan on my face having a lot of character in ten years."

You may also wish to discuss the fact that Mia Farrow has been studying with Maharishi Mahesh Yogi at the Rishikesh Center, on the banks of the Ganges in India, and whether it is all a part of being an actress. But that, clearly, is her business.

You may want to talk about the fact that Robert Mitchum must have liked the script, or at least for some reason, gives his most memorable performance in years.

You may even want to talk about the tub - the one in the bath scene where Taylor and Farrow appear in that very unusual and controversial little episode. Actually, the tub, (of fiberglass) measured nine feet across at its widest point - a pretty big tub - but still it had to be returned. The reason was that the tub was so shallow that both actresses felt that it showed more of them then either one wanted, in the scene where both bathe together.

But those are not really the things that we expect you will end up discussing. More likely, you will ask yourself just what was Cenci's real relationship with Albert, just what it was that she wanted from Lenora, and what it was that Lenora wanted from her. Why, if Albert cherished Cenci that much, did he leave her and go to Philadelphia for so long. And was Albert really bad, or just terribly frank about his needs and desires?

Among the items you will perhaps wish to discuss is the question of Cenci's mental retardation and that perhaps a part of her waif-like, lost composure might just have been an act. Was it all an act? Something brought two physically desirable people into her life. Could any part of it have been deliverate?

Was Cenci naive, or half-mad, by not realizing that certain actions - the times she seemed to brush against him or just massage his back - would have an overpowering physical effect upon Albert, who admittedly had looked at her longingly for many years?

Could that have been just madness or just innocence, or was there a part of it all that was young female animal design?

In order that you may more easily reach your own conclusions, we suggest that you read the following short advance summary of the strange, haunting plot of "Secret Ceremony" — the story of a young girl and her self-induced relationship with a 35-year old London prostitute. Mia Farrow is the young girl who, though painfully thin, has the body of a full-grown woman. She is, in fact 22. Miss Farrow is Cenci. Elizabeth Taylor is the prostitute, Leonora. Robert Mitchum is Albert, a professor who is Cenci's stepfather.

Cenci, in the role of a slightly mentally-retarded single girl, lives in an elegant London home on the enormous wealth she inherited from her mother, Margaret, who died. In a completely accidental meeting on the street, Cenci picks up the beautiful prostitute, Leonora. Because of Leonora's strong resemblance to her dead mother, Cenci proceeds to install the prostitute in her mansion, insisting that she is "Mummy." Leonora, finds it easy to accept the role as Cenci's mother, not only because of the luxury that Cenci's wealth and home provide, but because Cenci suddenly appears to her as the perfect replacement for her own lost child, a girl who drowned a dozen years earlier, at age 10.

The relationship between the two women works out well - each filling a need in the other - until the appearance of Cenci's stepfather, Albert, who suddenly returns to London after a long period of teaching in Philadelphia. He appears bringing white flowers to Cenci, and makes no bones of his deep interest in the girl. This inflames Leonora, who sees Albert as a menace not only to her rediscovered "daughter," but also her own newly-found wealth. It is here that there begins the eerie chain of events that led the Motion Picture Herald to describe this picture as "a Gothic horror story in modern dress."

It is not a picture to be seen without thought. And with that thought, you will discuss it in detail after the picture is over. You may even return to see the picture again, as we did, to catch several points you may have missed. It is for all of these reasons that we have asked you to read this little prelude to the strange and provocative motion picture that you may soon see.

Her Twin Sister Had the Baby

It was a relief for the 19-year-old identical twins when Gillian Crosby finally gave birth to a 7-pound 14-ounce daughter Thursday. An hour before the birth in Wythenshawe Maternity Hospital, Mrs. Crosby sent this message to her sister:

Barbara, under sedatives to ease the pain she was suffering at home, gritted her teeth then suddenly fell asleep immediately after Gillian's baby was born.

Doctors who examined both girls said it was a case of an unusually strong "sympathetic affinity" often observed between identical twins.

Looking at Hollywood

BY FLORABEL MUIR

HOLLYWOOD — I went over to Burbank the other day to interview Jerry Lewis. His weekly television show has not been renewed for next season, but I don't think this bothers Jerry too much. He told me that he has reached a point in his career at which he doesn't like to work unless it's spiritually rewarding and, besides, he has all the money he needs. He finds that commercial television is too constraining a medium for him to work in.

Jerry will devote more of his energies to feature film production, possibly excluding himself rom the acting side of it in some films in order to do more in the field of producing and directing. His latest feature, "Hook, Line and Sinker," is about to be released and he is putting together a picture called "Which Way to the Front?" in which he will star as well as direct.

On March 24, he begins a week of hosting the "Tonight Show." He tells me he loves the format of this type program, and is, therefore, very enthusiastic about the weeklong stint.

Jerry is very much interested in education and even teaches a weekly five-hours-long class on cinema for the University of Southern California. And he frequently gives lectures to students of other universities. I thought, therefore, that the relationship between academe and motion pictures would be interesting to discuss with him, and so I asked him to give me some of his observations of cinema as offered in education.

"Florabel, the whole educational structure in cinema today is suffering desperately because they merely want to know where you learn about moving the camera or how to deal with an actor who is temperamental, and there is no essential reference to the human side of creativity."

I asked him if he did not believe that there is very little orientation to the humanities in the whole American educational scheme of things.

"The United States educational system is a factual system."

"You mean vocational and professional oriented?" I asked, to which he answered, "Sure."

I wondered if he thought that too often people are concerned with the technical way of putting a picture together rather than with the thematic content and artistic form in which the content might be cast.

Jerry replied to this: "That is true to a degree. I can't make a generalization. I don't think all film makers think that way, but because of economy and because of inability to give a concerted effort to creativity, the tendency is to be steered by the economy, by greed."

"This is particularly true in television, isn't it?" I asked.

"I won't even discuss television, because if you want to talk on the creative way, we cannot discuss television."

But when I asked if he would exclude NET television — National Educational Television — Jerry said, "Oh, yes, that's excluded completely. Educational television is going to be the saving grace of television — that and news."

In our meeting, we had quite a bit to share on our views about the place of comedy in all entertainment media, and Jerry commented that good comedy is a safety valve.

"But surely we can go beyond the safety valve. Can't it be something greater than this?"

"To what degree?" he asked me.

"To the degree of enlightenment."

"I don't think so," he said quite definitely.

"Then if you see it just as gratuitous laughter, aren't you underselling the value of comedy?"

"Not a chance," he said.

He Can't Have Dog, Marine Corps Says

BLATIMORE, Md. (AP) — Sgt. Ronald P. Roane, a Marine amputee from Baltimore, wants to bring home the German sheperd scout dog Hobo who was wounded with him in Vietnam. But the Marine Corps says no.

They were on patrol south of Da Nang on Feb. 13 when a grenade exploded. Roane was hit in the left leg and right hand and his leg was amputated below the knee. He now is a patient at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital and expects to be discharged from it in June or July.

Hobo, known to the Marine Corps as war dog 27OM, suffered a broken left forepaw. He will be returned to duty with the Marine 3rd Military Police Battalion when he recovers.

"We went through a lot together," Roane, 23, said Thurs- together, but the Marine Corps says that can't be."

A Pentagon spokesman explained the Marine Corps has no provision for returning any scout dogs to the United States.

"They are over there for the duration," he said. "If they are wounded and recover, they are returned to duty. If they are wounded and the prognosis is unfavorable, they are euthanized, that is killed."

Firemen 'Walk Out' in Dispute In Madison, Wis.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Emergency fire protection measures were taken by this state capital city today after its firefighters announced a walkout in a wage dispute.

All public schools were ordered closed, and parochial schools said they might also close as a safety precaution. But the state and the University of Wisconsin, despite warnings by Mayor Otto Festge about a shortage of fire protection, said they would continue to operate their facilities.

Festge scheduled an emergency session of the Common Council today to ask for authority to seek a restraining order against the walkout in this city of 158,000 population.

The work stoppage was announced Thursday by Firefighters Local 311 despite a state law prohibiting strikes by municipal employes.

The action by the 270-member local also halted the department's emergency ambulance service. Dane County said it would provide substitute ambulance protection, and neighboring communities were called on to help with fire protection under a mutual assistance pact.

Policemen were assigned to patrol the city's nine vacated fire stations. Seven officers, including the fire chief, were left to man two fire trucks at a 10th station, a central headquarters where an emergency telephone system was set up.

A salray dispute between firemen and councilmen began nearly a year ago after policemen, traditionally paid the same as firefighters, won pay increases of about $110 a month under a job reclassification contract.

Firefighters settled in November for a $70 increase to a range of $604 to $691 monthly, but said members of a city bargaining committee agreed to get council approval of the same job reclassification won by policemen.

PARAPLEGIC'S INVENTION

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — A 46-year-old ex-fighter pilot, who lost the use of his legs when he was ejected from a stricken jet fighter plane in 1962, is back in the air thanks to a hand control he has devised for airplanes.

Lt. Cmdr. William Blackwood, USN, ret., has not only won back his ratings as a commercial pilot using the control, but operates a one-man flying school at Palomar Airport here.

After experimenting with a control that would allow his hands rather than his feet to activate the rudder, he demonstrated the final version to the Federal Aviation Administration. He won certification which will not only allow him to use the control but also to reproduce it for use by other paraplegics. Although not the first hand control for pilots, Blackwood says it is the first portable control which can be easily installed in rented planes.

A FOE of the current regime in her home country, Greek actress Melina Mercouri ponders reporters' questions in Rome, Italy. Miss Mercouri, an outspoken critic of the military-backed government in Greece, said she would continue speaking at rallies against it.

GAZETTE TELEGRAPH

Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever Striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place in which to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control. No more. No less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Coveting Commandment, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Let Peace Begin With Me

Real Artists Needed

Personally, we wouldn't want to see a baby seal skinned.

We think seal fur looks lovely on ladies, but we aren't inclined to observe the process by which it gets there.

The same for hamburger. We just love it. Yet we have no stomach for a slaughterhouse.

Butchering a chicken turns us green. In fact, we can barely stand to scrape the seeds out of even a cantaloupe. But we can't think of anything finer for a midnight snack than a fat drumstick.

The seal problem happens to belong to the Canadians. They have chosen up sides and are battling one another with verbal hockey sticks about a government-sponsored seal-killing orgy, scheduled to take place in St. Lawrence Gulf. Yet, we haven't heard so much as a whimper from the land of the Mounties over the fact that Canadian wheat helps the Reds kill Americans in North Vietnam.

In fact, you don't hear a whimper from Washington that American-grown wheat does the same.

We humans are a kind of mixed-up crew. We seem to tend toward a scrambled set of values. We don't seem to get excited about anything much, unless that "anything" happens to get a lot of publicity. Then suddenly the "anything" looms as very important. We are a mite surprised that somebody else saw what we observed, but didn't think too much of, at the time.

The poet Browning once said you can't appreciate fine scenery until you have seen a picture of it, or read a poem about it.

What this country needs, is a fine poet or a fine artist to depict the drama of our times. We need a person with a gift of vision to sort out the durable values, a person who can express them in the arts. We need great playwrights, great musicians to put our country in tune again with reality. We need a great humorist, like Mark Twain, to peel away the pretense from political government so that we may see it as it is. Don't underestimate the importance of art.

We mentioned the seal question only to show how inconsistent humans are. The artist or the humorist is the person who has the knack for revealing that ironic twist in us, for bringing clarity out of confusion, for eliciting simplicity out of the complex, for abstracting great principles out of a mass of detail.

Young man, young woman—wherever you are—the computers can't save civilization; but maybe artists with vision can.

Freedom Is Indivisible

Editor's note: Please see Mr. Scott Suneson's letter, "Refugees No Proof," in today's Open Parliament columns.

Mr. Suneson has gotten himself into essentially the same predicament of so many other youngsters today; having hitched their ideological wagons to individuals (Castro, in Mr. Suneson's case), rather than principles, they are led, willy-nilly, into indorsing and supporting actions which, were they to check their basic premises, their intellectual integrity would compel them to reject and condemn.

The actions of the draft protestors (with some laudatory exceptions, of course,) are cases in point. Having seen very clearly that the military draft, with its coercion and force, is a violation of their individual rights, the protestors, too often, turn right around and violate the rights of others when they resort to destruction of property, intimidation and even outright violence in their efforts to get their viewpoints across. Intellectually, they have accepted the "philosophy," and methods, of their opponents and, consequently, cut the moral ground from underneath their own position.

Reduced to its essentials, Mr. Suneson's defense of the Castro regime comes down to just this: Batista was bad. Castro opposed Batista. Therefore, Castro is good.

Admittedly simple and direct and, typically, the position of the political actionist, such a viewpoint conveniently fails to recognize that both Batista and Castro were and are bloody-handed tyrants; with the only difference between the two existing in the fact that each, in his own time, used the political weapons of coercion, threat, terror and murder against different groupings of individuals. Mr. Suneson cannot sanction what Castro has done to the Cuban people without, at the same time, sanctioning, in principle, what Batista did during his reign.

Reading Mr. Suneson's letter, we couldn't help recalling the ideological atmosphere just prior to World War II when Stalin, the bloody-handed tyrant of Soviet Russia, was the darling of the "liberals" of that time. Those ideologues, like so many of the draft protestors of today, saw very clearly the evil and monstrous inhumanity of Hitler Germany. So, like their counterparts today, they reasoned in much the same way: Hitler was bad. Stalin, so they thought, opposed Hitler. Therefore, Stalin was good.

Again, a simple and direct theory. Unfortunately, it blanked out the fact that Stalin had mounted the throne of power by climbing over mountains of human corpses, surpassing in numbers, perhaps, those climbed over by Adolf Hitler. The awakening for untold thousands, even millions, of those misguided ideologues of an earlier time occurred, just as it will occur for the Castro worshippers, only when Hitler and Stalin joined hands, temporarily, for the aggression and rape of Eastern Europe.

But Mr. Suneson questions our earlier editorial on the basis that the thousands upon thousands of refugees fleeing Castro Cuba do not constitute proof that the revolution under Castro has failed. We understand his arguments and see the points he attempts to make—and reject them outright.

Of course, the question of whether the Castro revolution has been "successful" or not hinges on the definition one gives to the word. If by "successful" Mr. Suneson means that Castro has been able to impose HIS will upon the people remaining in Cuba, forcing all who disagreed to flee for their lives, then, undoubtedly, the revolution has been a huge success. But if, on the other hand, by "successful" one means that Castro has lived up to his promise to bring freedom and prosperity to the Cuban people, then the revolution must be viewed as an abysmal and unqualified failure.

When viewed in this light, even ONE refugee fleeing from Cuba in fear of his life or attempting to retain something belonging to him constitutes absolute proof of the revolution's failure, in the same sense that ONE draftee fleeing from THIS country in an attempt to preserve HIS freedom, or ONE capitalist fleeing the United States in an attempt to retain control of what belongs to HIM, constitute absolute proof that the experiment with political government has failed HERE.

We thank Mr. Suneson for his letter and interest.

The Local Scene

The Word From Selden

(Conclusion)

BY RUFUS L. PORTER

In his letter, Howard Selden points out how inflation is being speeded up by the simple device of the government spending the Social Security tax as fast as it comes in and then issuing government bonds as the so-called "backlog" of funds from which future payments to recipients are supposed to be made. The government "sells" these bonds to the Federal Reserve at face value—and immediately spends the money (This makes twice the S. S. money is spent), adding billions per year to the already dangerously inflated currency—and leaving nothing whatever in the "kitty" for future social security payments which have been, are being, and must, of necessity, be, paid from those presently being taxed, supposedly for the purpose of building up a fund from which to draw in their own old age. How's that for buncoing the public?

My friend, Howard, thinks we should turn social security over to a group of insurance companies, allowing both the workers' and the employers' share of the tax to go into the special insurance fund. He believes these funds then could draw interest and help keep down the tax or, in this case, premium. He's right, of course, but I do not believe an insurance company or a group of companies would touch the Social Security setup, as it stands, with a ten-foot pole.

In the first place, such a change-over would require the government to hand over the accumulated "backlog" which is only a myth. There not only is no backlog, there is a huge indebtedness, amounting to about $400 billion, yes, billion, for which the government is already committed to pay expecting recipients—if the Social Security law were repealed today. Now, what group of insurance companies would be crazy enough to take over a $400 billion debt?

They would, no doubt, be willing to start from scratch with the present crop, or generation, of workers and carry on from there. For what the workers and their employers (what the hell are they doing in there in the first place?) are presently paying to support the bankrupt government program, the insurance companies could offer them double or triple what they will draw from the government, when and if the program survives until their retirement. Either that, or they could chop the premiums in half.

What, then, would happen to those who are already drawing Social Security? That's a good question, but one we won't have to worry about at present. The politicians aren't about to give up on this greatest of all political plums until the final breakup of our society as we know it today. And that isn't nearly so far off as some may think. (end).

SERVING THU PEEPUL

It amuses me no end to pick up a paper and read in some news item that so-and-so has "served the people" so many years, meaning that he has held political office. Politicians serve nobody but themselves. Oh, they do serve other politicians once in awhile, even those of the opposite party. They have been known to help keep a member of the opposite party in office because, "We get along so well together." But no politician ever serves the people, unless serving them misery is taken into account. Every added tax, every increase in the present taxes, but adds to the peoples' misery—and the increases and new taxes are added with startling and predictable regularity.

Politicians are beasts of prey—that's the best that can be said for them. They feed off the people they pretend to protect and help. They are parasites of the first (and worst) order. As Adam Lyre remarked long ago, "Politicians are the natural enemies of the people."

All the good ever done by politicians since the dawn of history, if examined, tabulated and added up would amount to exactly—NOTHING. But the harm and the suffering caused humanity by politicians would encompass all the misery ever visited upon the human race, with the possible exception of personal illness, mental illness not included, for the politicians have driven many nations mad. Witness Hitler's Germany.

But when a politician dies, the people parrot what they read in the papers, "He spent his life in the service of the people, or his country." Malarky—'tis the other way round.

Essence of Virtue

By F. A. HAYEK
(The Freeman)

Freedom to order our own conduct in the sphere where material circumstances force a choice upon us, and responsibility for the arrangement of our own life according to our own conscience, is the air in which alone moral sense grows and in which moral values are daily re-created in the free decision of the individual.

Responsibility, not to a superior, but to one's conscience, the awareness of a duty not exacted by compulsion, the necessity to decide which of the things one values are to be sacrificed to others, and bear the consequences of one's own decision, are the very essence of any morals which deserve the name.

REFUGEES NO PROOF

To the Editor:

Although I vehemently disagree with the editorial policy of the Gazette Telegraph, I force myself to read the editorial page for a variety of reasons. For one, it is an effective and continual testimonial to the folly and stupidity of my fellow human beings. I find it incredible that such a widely circulated newspaper can consistently publish such irrelevant, illogical, and misleading editorials.

Consider, for instance, your editorial of March 4, 1969, entitled "Why Refugees?" You claim, in effect, that the existence of Cuban refugees proves that the Cuban revolution is a failure and Castro a poor leader. Undoubtedly this short column was much appreciated by the virulent anti-Communist readers of the GT, who unthinkingly engorge any "facts" which appear to support their prejudices. Unfortunately this time such an obvious error has been made that I doubt this expose of your faulty reasoning will be published. For the Cuban refugees do not in any way reflect on the success of the revolution or the leadership of Fidel Castro.

To begin with, refugees are a product of any revolutionary situation, a fact which is obvious from both a theoretical and historical standpoint. Revolutions involve a transfer of political power and a restructuring of the society. Those who stand to lose considerable political or economic benefits can be expected to flee the country. Our own revolution was no exception; an undetermined number of British loyalists fled to Canada either voluntarily or as the result of repression. A refugee problem will be more likely in a situation which involves far-reaching economic changes and reforms. Cuban society before Castro was hopelessly corrupt and structured heavily in favor of a rich minority. The reforms instigated by the revolutionary government naturally met with the disapproval of this privileged class.

It is clear that the mere existence of refugees in a revolutionary situation does not reflect on the success or failure of the revolution. The composition of the refugees is, however, an important question. If the refugees are exclusively from the rich and privileged class, it would be ridiculous to presume the revolution has failed. Only if the refugees are predominantly of the working class can we conclude with any certainty that the revolution and its leaders have failed.

The Cuban refugees fall mainly into three groups: The rich, those who engage in criminal activity and vice, and the workers with above average incomes. Cuban society no longer tolerates drug traffic, prostitutes, and gambling as it did under Batista. The above average income workers were affiliated for the most part with U. S. companies in Cuba as technicians, telephone operators, etc. Rather than lose their moderately privileged positions, many found it desirable to leave. It is significant that few of the refugees are from the lower classes (such as the sugar cane workers).

Also, we cannot ignore the fact that U. S. restrictions on Cuban immigration have been temporarily dissolved. Any Cuban (including criminals) who claims he is fleeing the "evils" of Castro's Cuba is admitted to the U. S. Furthermore, we must consider that throughout Latin America and especially in Cuba and Mexico, there is a great desire to achieve the high standard of living existing in the United States. If Mexicans were freely allowed to enter the U. S. there would probably be an influx of hundreds of thousands of immigrants. In view of the "open arms policy" the number of refugees to date is lower than one would expect.

Finally, it should be noted that the refugee problem in a revolutionary situation varies according to the degree of prosperity and reform achieved by the revolutionary government. Cuba has suffered greatly from U..S hostility and the consequent trade restrictions. This has caused economic hardships and political repression which otherwise might not have existed.

From the above, it is clear that the existence of Cuban refugees definitely does not prove that Castro has failed. Future articles in the GT concerning Cuba will hopefully be less vindictive and sarcastic and a little more factual. Perhaps the editor lacks the necessary courage and intelligence to examine the Cuban revolution in an objective manner. A thorough analysis would reveal two conclusions which the GT and its readers might find unpalatable: 1) Cuba is much better off since the revolution and Castro has an incredible popularity among the masses; 2) Within the context of the TOTAL situation (pre-revolutionary conditions, trade restrictions, the Bay of Pigs invasion, etc.) the Cuban revolution has been a social and economic success.

RAM JOBS WILL CONTINUE

To the Editor:

The voters will continue to get ram jobs regardless of who wins in the coming election.

Did they get to vote pro or con on PPACG?? If not, why not? They are paying for it.

Did they get to vote for Doctor Miller of the City-County Health Department who so audaciously informed them that they were going to abide by his decision "whether they liked it or not?"

I believe, had the Doctor made that statement in the presence of Nathan Hale, Thomas Jefferson or Patrick Henry, he would have ended flat on his back with every tooth in his head knocked out.

Voters, the City Council, County Commissioners, PPACG, and Doctor Miller have shown their contempt of you and the process of democracy by their abuse of political powers.

Where is this freedom you claim to have?

EXAMINE STATEMENT

To the Editor:

What is wrong with this statement? "In today's enlightened society, people accept us for what we are, not for our religious background."

Hearing it, would you consider it propaganda? If not, then you had better begin to wise up to the amount of this sort of thing that is being siphoned into the conversation of polite society, like pollution into a water way.

What is wrong with it? If you sincerely consider what is being said, instead of just copying it like a mynah bird, you can see for yourself.

What it really says, is that a person and his religious background are separate entities, when the truth of the matter is that we are the embodiment of what we believe. Our religious beliefs are simply an open statement of what we are.

It has become the habit of politicians to refuse or to avoid revealing their religious affiliations to the voting public. My vote goes to the man who volunteers such information. It is the surest indication of what that man will do. I do not mind if there are those who call it prejudice, for when they do, it reveals to me what they are.

Newspapers Here to Stay

BY D. R. SEGAL
Publisher Gastonia
(N. C.) Gazette

A close blood relative of mine is going to journalism school. My roommate is not altogether pleased. She has had a lifetime of association with people involved in journalism and she does not have an unfailing high opinion of the trade or its practitioners.

"At least the kid ought to get into television," she said the other day.

No offense meant, but my exposure to television "personalities" has been unsettling. I suppose the plain fact is that television is show biz, not journalism, and to judge it by the standards of good journalism practice doesn't show good sense.

Anyway, I was pleased to come across a short editorial in the Winston-Salem, N.C. JOURNAL, thus:

"In 1937, Gen. James G. Harbord, chairman of the board of Radio Corporation of America, predicted that the printed newspaper would shortly disappear. In only a few years, people would get their news from a facsimile machine installed in the home.

"In 1947 Gen. Robert Sarnoff, president of RCA, predicted that the printed newspaper would shortly disappear. In only a few years, people would get their news from a facsimile machine installed in the home.

"Now skip the next 20 years. In 1968 RCA announced plans to acquire the St. Regis Paper Co., a major producer of paper for the newspaper industry. Evidently RCA's actuaries had changed their estimates of the life expectancy of the family newspaper. But last week St. Regis, having thought a little more about the merger, said, 'No thank you. We prefer to go it alone.' "

Perhaps the JOURNAL is reading too much into the story; but me—I take comfort in it. I have a feeling that at some point in history Ugg's wife came up and said, "Hey, stupid, when you gonnaquit carvin' them dudes on the wall of the cave? Don't you know nobody reads no more. I hear some cat has invented fire, and that means the end of all this prehistoric jazz, Daddy-O."

I do believe printed journalism will survive if only because of man's innate cussedness. There is pleasure and satisfaction to be gained by turning back to the recorded Great Thoughts of yesterday and finding out that many of them have turned out to be clinkers.

For example, if the generals from RCA hadn't gotten down in print their notions about the perishability of the newspaper industry, they wouldn't have to eat them now. Who can remember exactly what somebody said on a broadcast 10 years ago—or 10 minutes ago?—American Way Features

ELECTION NOTICE

Pursuant to the Charter of the City of Colorado Springs, Colorado.

NOTICE is hereby given that a General Municipal Election by the qualified electors residing within the corporate limits of the City of Colorado Springs, will be held in said City on between the hours of 7:00 o'clock a.m. and 7:00 o'clock p.m., on said day for the election of the following named officers:

THREE COUNCILMEN for a term of six years each whose term of office shall commence at 10:00 o'clock a.m. on the Third Tuesday in April, 1969.

The list of candidates whose names are entitled to appear on the ballot for the office of COUNCILMAN for the full term of six years is:

WILLIAM H. BECKER, JAY COOK, KENNETH I. (KEN) CURTIS, JOHN L. DONOVAN, HAROLD HAWKS, BETTY F. KROUSE, JOHN F. NARAD, JOHN S. NEEL, FLOYD W. PETTIE.

There will also be submitted to the vote of the qualified electors voting at said General Municipal Election, in accordance with the Constitution of the State of Colorado and the Charter and Ordinances of the City of Colorado Springs, the following question.

There will also further be submitted to the vote of the qualified electors voting at said General Municipal Election, in accordance with the Constitution of the State of Colorado, the Charter and Ordinances of the City of Colorado Springs for adoption or rejection the following initiated ordinance and proposed Charter Amendments, the full text of which measures are:

INITIATED ORDINANCE NO. 3804

AN ORDINANCE REPEALING THE FOLLOWING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF COLORADO SPRINGS. "AN ORDINANCE PROHIBITING THE BURNING OF TRASH AND OTHER COMBUSTIBLE MATERIAL ON OPEN PREMISES AND REGULATING THE BURNING OF COMBUSTIBLE REFUSE IN INCINERATORS."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF COLORADO SPRINGS THAT:

1. Ordinance 3458, known as "An Ordinance Prohibiting the Burning of Trash and Other Combustible Material on Open Premises and Regulating the Burning of Combustible Refuse in Incinerators," be and the same is hereby repealed.
2. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its final passage and publication as provided by the Charter.

A Charter Amendment amending Section 3 of Article II of the Charter by adding thereto subsection 3 (x).

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF COLORADO SPRINGS.

That Section 3 of Article II of the Charter of the City of Colorado Springs be and hereby is amended by adding thereto subsection 3(x) to read as follows:

SECTION 3(x). TERMS OF COUNCILMEN. As the terms of all incumbent councilmen expire, the terms of office of all councilmen thereafter elected, whether at large or from districts, or a combination thereof, shall be for a period of four years; provided, however, that in order to effect the transition in the election of all councilmen to the four year term herein specified and adjust to the method and manner of election prescribed by the Charter, whether at large or by districts, or combination thereof, and bring about as nearly as possible the election of an equivalent number of Councilmen at the respective elections, consistent with the applicable Charter provisions, the Council shall by ordinance provide for the number of councilmen at large to be elected at the respective elections and shall likewise provide for a shorter term or terms of a councilman or councilmen to be elected at large to the extent necessary to effect the transition in election of all councilmen to the terms and method of election provided in the Charter. The provisions in Section 3 of the Charter fixing the term of councilmen at six years and fixing the number of councilmen to be elected at each election are hereby superseded.

A Charter Amendment amending Section 3 of Article II of the Charter and providing for the election of five Councilmen at large and four Councilmen from election districts and specifying the method of designating districts.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF COLORADO SPRINGS:

That Section 3 of Article II of the Charter of the City of Colorado Springs be and the same hereby is amended to read as follows:

"SECTION 3. ELECTIVE OFFICERS, TERMS. (a) The Elective officers of the City shall be nine councilmen who shall be elected at the general municipal elections. As the terms of incumbent councilmen expire, five councilmen shall be elected at large by the quzified electors of the City and one Councilman shall be elected from each of the four election districts of the City by the qualified electors of such district as hereafter provided.

(b) At least ninety and not more than one hundred twenty days before any City election at which District Councilmen are to be elected, the City Clerk shall divide the City into four election districts having substantially equal populations. All of the area in each district shall be contiguous and said districts shall comprise generally the Northwest portion, the Northeast portion, the Southeast portion and the Southwest portion of the City. The Council shall provide by ordinance the method of creating said districts and establishing their boundaries, the giving of notice of such proceedings, the manner of protesting such proceedings and division of the City into said districts and for hearing on such protest.

(c) The term of all elected officers shall commence at ten o'clock A.M. on the third Tuesday of April following their election, except in the case of a person elected to fill a vacancy for an unexpired term who shall enter upon the discharge of his duties upon the declaration of the result of the election and taking the oath of office. To be eligible for the office of Councilman from any election district, in addition to the other prescribed qualifications, such person must be a bona fide resident of the election district from which he is elected.

(d) Except to fill a vacancy, all district councilmen shall be elected at the same election. All councilmen at large shall be elected at other elections in such manner as to provide as nearly as possible the election of an equivalent number of councilmen at large at the respective elections. In order to bring about as early as possible the election of the district councilmen and to effect the election of all councilmen for the terms and in the manner prescribed in the Charter, the Council shall provide by ordinance the number of councilmen at large to be elected at the respective elections and fix a shorter term or terms than those prescribed in the Charter for one or more councilmen to the extent necessary to bring about the transition in the election of all councilmen for the terms and in the manner provided in the Charter.

(e) If the Charter Amendment amending Section 3 of the Charter by adding thereto Section 3 (x) is not adopted at this April 1, 1969, election, the term of all councilmen shall be six years and the provision in Section 3 fixing the term of councilmen at six years shall remain in effect and shall not be herein amended or repealed."

R. E. Parker, City Clerk

New Commander Named for 46th Artillery

The new commander of the 46th Field Artillery Group, Fort Carson, Col. James R. Loome, is beginning his third stay as a temporary resident of Colorado.

* * *

COL. JAMES R. LOOME

Col. Loome's father, now a retired brigadier general, was in the Army while his son was growing up, and the family was in Denver two years. A teenager at the time, Colonel Loome attended Regis High School.

Later he attended the U.S. Military Academy, graduating in 1946. Among his classmates now stationed at Fort Carson are Col. Paul M. Ireland, Jr., commander of the 2d Brigade; Col. Pat W. Crizer, commander of the 3d Brigade; and 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) chief of staff Col. Truman E. Boudinot.

As a second lieutenant, the new artillery commander took basic artillery training at Fort Sill and Fort Bliss. It was the first of three tours of duty at the Oklahoma post.

Later in his career he returned from Korea to Fort Sill and was subsequently transferred to Army Air Defense Command headquarters in Colorado Springs.

Overseas assignments have included Japan, Europe and Vietnam, in addition to Korea. Colonel Loome's longest tour, in the Pentagon, was four years in the Office of the Comptroller of the Army.

Huge Oil Fire Put Out in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Firefighters spraying fountains of foam today put out a huge oil and gasoline fire which killed a tanker truck attendant and burned 50 other persons—many of them spectators.

A county fire department spokesman said the fire in a fuel storage tank field was completely controlled after firemen snuffed out flames licking around a storage tank filled with one million gallons of gasoline.

Sheriff's Deputy John Barnick said the injuries to spectators would have been averted if they had heeded officers' warnings to move back. Barnick said that shortly after the warning a new explosion shot flames over a block-long distance, causing flash burns to many onlookers.

Ky Says His Wife Is Not Profiteer

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said today a U.S. senator's charge that Ky's wife is a land profiteer was "a blatant lie."

"My wife and I do not own even an inch of land," Ky said. "If anyone can offer evidence to the contrary, I am ready to retire from my present public function."

The vice president was replying to a charge by Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, that Mrs. Ky owns large holdings in rice lands near Saigon and in a huge rubber plantation.

Young, an outspoken critic of U.S. policy in Vietnam, said in a Senate speech he was told of Mrs. Ky's land holdings during a recent visit to South Vietnam. He said it was remarkable because the vice president's wife was an airline stewardess before her marriage, and he said she nwo was "a blatant example of absentee landlordism."

"It is apparent to any observer in Southeast Asia," Young added, "that the Saigon regime is hopelessly corrupt and unconcerned for the lot of the South Vietnamese people."

Ky's statement said Young's charge was "a blatant lie from a man who knows nothing about Vietnam. The senator's statement is utterly groundless and made with bad will."

She Goes to College To Keep Old Promise

BALDWIN, Kan. (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Susie Leake is attending Baker University as a freshman to pay the fee for the minister's services at her parents' wedding 32 years ago.

Miss Leake is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Leake of Kansas City, Mo., who were living in Detroit, Mich., when they were married in Depression era 1937.

After the ceremony the Methodist minister told them that in lieu of a cash fee they could send their first child to Baker, a Methodist-related school.

In 1948 the Leakes moved to Kansas City, and their first child, Susie, was born Oct. 6, 1950.

"My parents didn't make me come to Baker, it was just mutually agreed," said Miss Leake. "I wanted to come to Baker. I love it and want to spent all four of my college years here."

She plans to be an elementary teacher.

Wife Meets Husband; Killed in Accident

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Constance Ann Townsend, 20, greeted her husband Thursday on his discharge from the Army at Ft. Riley, Kan., and the couple started in separate cars for their home in Webster Groves, Mo., where he had a civilian job awaiting him.

A few hours later near Columbia, former Army Lt. James F. Townsend Jr., 27, looked in his rear-view mirror and didn't see his wife's car. He turned around and raced back along Interstate 70.

Seven Persons Die in Turkish Earth Tremor

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Seven persons were reported killed and many more injured by a strong earth tremor that shook western Turkey early today.

The Interior Ministry said the deaths were reported in the area of Manisa, 25 miles inland from Izmir, the large Aegean port. There were no reports of casualties or damage at Izmir, where a large number of U.S. military personnel are stationed.

The shock was felt over 10 provinces, the Turkish radio said.

Early reports said three minarets collapsed and several houses and large buildings were badly damaged in the Manisa area.

Officials said it was feared the death toll and damage reports would rise as contact was made with outlying villages.

The earthquake was reported at 3:30 a.m.

THEFT

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — "Somebody has perpetrated a dastardly deed upon medical science," said a Johns Hopkins Hospital official.

He might have numbered hay fever victims among the unfortunate also since the comment referred to the theft of a $300 pollen counter used by the hospital's allergy laboratory.
